Scores of Reports Made

Arrests Made

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 1 (AP)—Foreign embassies and legations said today they have received scores of reports of strange crosses marked on foreigners' doors since Saturday's disastrous fire riots, for which police were reported to have made many new arrests.

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said police raided 230 homes of rioters and recovered eight truck loads of booty, including pistols and shotguns, looted from Cairo stores during the riots. It reported 86 more persons were arrested.

The U. S. embassy said today it has asked Egyptian authorities to investigate several reports of crosses and other marks on American doors. British, Greek, Italian and French embassies complained of the same thing.

Has Significance
The cross on the door has historical significance in Egypt. The Bible says God ordered Moses and the Jews to mark sheep's blood crosses on their doors to escape avenging angels sent to slay each first born child in an Egyptian house—one of the seven plagues visited on the Egyptians.

U. S. Consul Lamar Mulliner said an Egyptian police officer told him an investigation of the latest crosses has been going on for two days and that police believe an organization called "The Liberty Assistants" are making the marks. Some of the group have been arrested, he said.

The officer told Mulliner doors of Christians, Jews, Coptic Christians and Europeans all have been found marked.

He said the group believed responsible for them is similar to the Ahmed Hussain Socialists whom many people believe were responsible for Saturday's fire riot.

This was the first new indication of underlying anti-western feeling since Aly Maher Pasha's peace-bell government took over under martial law Sunday.

More than 200 persons met at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday night to pay tribute to Vincent G. Connelly for his service as city chairman of the Republican Party and to wish him well in his new position as confidential law secretary to Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth.

Connelly, who was city chairman from 1945 until he resigned the end of 1951 in order to accept his appointment in Justice Elsworth's office, was also commended for his work as assistant district attorney.

Emphasis was placed by several speakers on the contention that politics, in its best sense, is a science of service to the people of a nation.

Referring to Connelly's service as Republican city chairman, Justice Elsworth said that, Connelly has been called a politician and "for this he need not blush."

Elsworth Tribute
Justice Elsworth, who was county Republican chairman succeeding the late Philip Elting and until his appointment to the Supreme Court bench, said there is a "growing need" for the participation of more good citizens in public affairs.

Connelly, he said, has always discharged his political duties "fairly, squarely and honestly, with the public interest and welfare ever paramount to personal and partisan consideration."

Wicks Is Speaker
State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, present Republican county chairman, termed politics "a fine thing and a great medium of service to the people if it is played right—as Vince practiced it here in the city of Kingston."

Senator Wicks described Connelly as "forthright, a fighter, . . . an indefatigable worker." He also asked that the public show consideration and understanding in dealing with their public leaders, realizing that "everything cannot be done at once."

"I don't believe it is right to heap abuse upon the men who are giving of themselves," Senator Wicks said.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Truman's dismissal of state presidential primary elections as eyewash brought sharp retorts today from Republican contenders for his job.

Harold E. Stassen said: "President Truman's statement is an example of the cynical attitude of the Pendergast machine toward the rights of the people."

Gov. Earl Warren of California said: "The election process in this country is never eyewash." Stassen added in a statement that the primaries are "the people's best chance to influence the selection of their own leaders in both political parties."

Democrats generally shied away from comment, but Senator Smathers (D-Fla.) said he agreed with the President.

Pushing for Action
He and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) have been pushing for congressional action to install party primaries in all states.

"By saying presidential primaries are eyewash and don't even mean a thing, President Truman put his finger on an evil I'd like to do away with," Smathers said. "The people should have some say-so in the selection of candidates for president and vice-president."

Senator Douglas, noting he was not seeking a row with the President, urged that "presidential primaries be expanded rather than contracted."

He said nominations at conventions now are controlled by about 1,000 party leaders "who frequently nominate men whom the people do not want and ignore others whom the people do desire."

Three other Democratic senators agreed with Truman's claim that he can have his party's presidential nomination—if he wants it—without bothering about state primaries.

Still keeping his plans to himself, the President told his news conference yesterday that if he wants the nomination he does not have to go into any primary.

"I feel sure about that," Senator Edwin Johnson (D-Colo.) told a reporter. "In fact he'll have to fight now to keep from being renominated."

Doubts Candidacy
Johnson clung to his belief that Truman will not be a candidate again for the presidency.

Some 20,000 AFL truck drivers in 15 southern and midwest states struck today in a wage dispute with operators.

The strikes virtually paralyzed operation of freight companies in the 15 states. The effects were felt immediately throughout much of the eastern half of the country.

The strikes hit the south from the Carolinas to Texas and in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Ohio. The long-haul truckers were ordered out at midnight by the AFL Teamsters Union against approximately 500 companies.

The Federal Mediation Service in Washington was keeping an eye on the strike situation. But there was no indication what the government's next step might be.

Walkout Averted
Last minute agreements between the union and operators in nine midwest states averted a walkout of another 36,000 drivers.

But strike orders to southern truckers had been sent out to local unions from headquarters of the southern conference at Memphis, Tenn., after contract negotiations collapsed.

"The strike is on," said W. M. Miller, chairman of the conference. Miller estimated that at least 100,000 drivers, warehousemen, and city pickup and delivery in other states would be affected by the strike because of the curtailed long-haul services.

Southern states hit by the strike are Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, North and South Carolina, Kentucky and Mississippi.

Allies Down 31
Reds in January,
Lose 52 Aircraft

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied airmen shot down 31 Red jets in January and lost 52 of their own planes, Far East Air Forces reported today.

The allied loss was the greatest in any month of the 20-month Korean war.

Increasingly accurate Communist anti-aircraft fire destroyed 23 United Nations jets and 21 propeller planes. Five F-86 Sabre jets were shot down in air battles. One Sabre and two B-29 Superfortresses were lost because of mechanical failures.

In addition to the 31 Russian-type MIG-15 jets shot down, allied pilots were credited with probably destroying two and damaging 30.

FEAF said during the entire war the allies have lost 479 planes compared to 850 Red aircraft destroyed or damaged, including 611 MIGs.

Snow and overcast skies grounded most allied planes Friday morning. Fifth Air Force said only a few fighter-bombers went out on "Operation Strangle," designed to cut Communist life lines.

F-84 Thunderjets damaged one MIG-15 in a brief fight in snow-filled skies. Capt. Archibald S. Barnwell of Las Vegas, Nev., was credited with hitting a MIG in the fuselage when eight Reds attacked 18 Thunderjets.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Evening Star said today Newbold Morris, former president of the New York city council, has been picked to direct the long-promised "cleanup" of the federal government.

Morris, a Republican, will be named an assistant attorney general and will conduct his investigation on behalf of Attorney General McGrath, the newspaper said.

President Truman has given McGrath over-all supervision of the move to cleanup any remaining governmental corruption.

A prominent New York lawyer, Morris will be 50 tomorrow. In 1949 he ran for mayor of New York on the Republican, Liberal and Fusion party tickets. William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, defeated him. O'Dwyer is a Democrat.

Murray Demands
Guaranteed Wage
To Scare Joe Stalin

Likens Call to Point 4
Program to Aid
Backward Areas
of Economy

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A guaranteed minimum annual wage in American industry was demanded today by Philip Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, to offset unemployment and to "strike dismay" in the Kremlin.

Murray, also CIO president, likened guaranteed annual wages to a domestic "point four program" for "backward, or underdeveloped, areas of American economic stability."

Murray outlined his proposal in a prepared statement for a six-man panel of the Wage Stabilization Board, which resumed a hearing on the steel workers' wage and other demands after a three-week recess.

A possible nation-wide steel strike hinges on the outcome of the hearing.

'Could Be Supported'
Another hearing witness for the CIO, economist Murray W. Latimer, said today a guaranteed annual wage in the steel industry for employees with three or more years' service could be supported by company contributions of 6 1/2 to 7 cents an hour.

In calling for the guaranteed wage plan, which in effect would give workers three-quarters of their normal pay in slack periods for as long as a year, Murray said it was not socialist.

"Our guaranteed annual wage proposal is drafted with the best interests of our American free enterprise system in mind," he said. "It will strengthen American free enterprise, now and over the long run."

'Would Strike Dismay'
"And its adoption would strike dismay in the hearts of the men in the Kremlin who are banking on American economic distress as their most valuable fifth column in the campaign to weaken free institutions and hasten the spread of Communist dictatorship."

In likening the proposal to an internal "point four" program, Murray said:

"Most Americans gain a solid and justifiable sense of satisfaction from the pioneering efforts of our government to help our less fortunate neighbors overseas."

"But the acclaim that would rebound to the benefit of the steel industry for moving ahead with a domestic point four program on this forgotten front of our own economy, would be of tremendous aid to our free enterprise."

Murray said it was "high time that America—labor and industry, both—came to grips with the human problems of unemployment."

Revenue Official Declares
Illegal Gambling Halts

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A revenue official says the new federal gambling tax has virtually halted illegal gambling in the United States but he added: "I don't know how long the honeymoon will last."

Eugene Coyle, the revenue bureau's expert on the gambling tax, said yesterday the new tax has choked off 90 per cent of the nation's estimated 20 billion dollar a year "illegal gambling business."

The majority of the gamblers still operating, he said, are small fry.

Coyle said "most of the big time gamblers have closed shop because they are afraid to reveal their illegal operations to police, the public and the press as the new law requires."

In another development, the Federal Communications Commission ordered a probe into how gamblers are using Western Union telegraph wires.

Western Union had proposed to put new regulations governing transmission of horse and dog racing news into effect midnight last night, but the FCC ordered a postponement until May 3 to give it time to hold public hearings.

It said it wanted to find out, among other things, whether the regulations violate constitutional guarantees such as freedom of speech and the press, and whether they will successfully cut off service to illegal gambling interests.

In New York a Western Union spokesman said the company is "caught" in the middle because courts have held that racing and other sports information is legal. He said the company itself is anxious to cut off transmission of illegal information.

Regarding the federal gamblers tax, Coyle gave these figures:

A total of 8,913 gamblers over the nation bought tax stamps in December compared with 1,556 in November, the first month under the law. Most of these were petty operators, such as punch-board dealers in states where punchboards are legal.

Gamblers reported about two million dollars in business for November and paid the 10 per cent tax amounting to more than $199,000.

This sum, added to the $383,504 paid in for tax stamps, brought collections from gamblers through December to $582,504. Congressmen estimated when they passed the law that they might get 400 million dollars a year in revenue.

Is Not Neutral, Hence

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 1 (AP)—Red negotiators proposed today that the fate of 600,000 displaced Korean civilians be left to the "good faith" of the allies and Communists.

The Reds (1) turned down a UN plan to have neutrals find out where the displaced Koreans want to live, (2) cut the allied proposal for inspections at 12 ports of entry to three, and (3) did not reply to the allied selection of Switzerland, Sweden and Norway as neutral observers of a Korean truce.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said "we told them good faith was not enough" guarantee that displaced civilians would be allowed to live where they choose. He said "everything was very amicable except they didn't agree."

Red Cross Spurned
The UN proposed that neutral teams interview displaced persons after the Reds again rejected a proposal to give the job to the International Committee of the Red Cross. The Communists said they wanted no part of the Red Cross because it is not neutral.

There was no mention of voluntary prisoner repatriation, key stumbling block in the prisoner exchange negotiations.

Staff officers working on truce supervision machinery completed a preliminary study of the allied working draft.

The official UN command commissioning the officers "will now attempt to resolve the differences in viewpoints, most of them minor, which have been uncovered."

Disagreement on Ports
Among the differences in viewpoint is a disagreement over how many ports of entry should be inspected by neutral teams. The UN proposed 12 on either side—24 all told. They listed Sinuiju, Hamhung and Chongjin in North Korea and Pusan, Inchon and Suwon behind allied lines.

Sinuiju is on the Manchurian border in northwestern Korea, Hamhung and Chongjin are seaports on the east coast.

The Red proposal brought prompt and unfavorable reaction from allied negotiators.

"We pointed out the impracticality of trying to limit our operations to three points and suggested that they reconsider their offer," said Col. Don O. Darrow, a UN staff officer.

Other Disputes
An allied spokesman said other disputes involve the number of troops each side may rotate, several UN held coastal islands which the Reds want and the number of neutral inspection teams behind the lines.

The UN wants 15 teams operating behind the lines of each side. The Reds have not said how many they want, but indicated they object to 15.

The staff officers aren't even discussing the proposal to agree on how to supervise an armistice. This is the question of whether the Reds have the right to build and repair military airfields in North Korea during an armistice.

The Communists did not reply Friday to the allied suggestion that work begin immediately on agenda item five—recommendations to belligerent governments. However, Red negotiators indicated they might have an answer Saturday.

In addition to the 31 Russian-type MIG-15 jets shot down, allied fighters were credited with probably destroying two and damaging 30.

FEAF said during the entire war the allies have lost 479 planes compared to 850 Red aircraft destroyed or damaged, including 611 MIGs.

Snow and overcast skies grounded most allied planes Friday morning. Fifth Air Force said only a few fighter-bombers went out on "Operation Strangle," designed to cut Communist life lines.

F-84 Thunderjets damaged one MIG-15 in a brief fight in snow-filled skies. Capt. Archibald S. Barnwell of Las Vegas, Nev., was credited with hitting a MIG in the fuselage when eight Reds attacked 18 Thunderjets.

Controversy Rages
Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Controversy raged today over a report to the Senate that Republican National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson and William M. Boyle, Jr., former Democratic chairman, had invited "charges of impropriety" in their conduct. The Senate investigations subcommittee filed the report yesterday but only over a protest by one of its members, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), that it contained errors and "faulty reasoning."

Parkers Pay $2,800
The city treasurer's office reported a total of $2,800 collected from the city's parking meters in January. This was $200 less than in December, 1951 and $50 more than in January of that year.

Morris Reported to Be Chosen for 'Cleanup'

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Evening Star said today Newbold Morris, former president of the New York city council, has been picked to direct the long-promised "cleanup" of the federal government.

Morris, a Republican, will be named an assistant attorney general and will conduct his investigation on behalf of Attorney General McGrath, the newspaper said.

President Truman has given McGrath over-all supervision of the move to cleanup any remaining governmental corruption.

A prominent New York lawyer, Morris will be 50 tomorrow. In 1949 he ran for mayor of New York on the Republican, Liberal and Fusion party tickets. William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, defeated him. O'Dwyer is a Democrat.

Murray Demands
Guaranteed Wage
To Scare Joe Stalin

Likens Call to Point 4
Program to Aid
Backward Areas
of Economy

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A guaranteed minimum annual wage in American industry was demanded today by Philip Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, to offset unemployment and to "strike dismay" in the Kremlin.

Murray, also CIO president, likened guaranteed annual wages to a domestic "point four program" for "backward, or underdeveloped, areas of American economic stability."

Murray outlined his proposal in a prepared statement for a six-man panel of the Wage Stabilization Board, which resumed a hearing on the steel workers' wage and other demands after a three-week recess.

A possible nation-wide steel strike hinges on the outcome of the hearings.

'Could Be Supported'
Another hearing witness for the CIO, economist Murray W. Latimer, said today a guaranteed annual wage in the steel industry for employees with three or more years' service could be supported by company contributions of 6½ to 7 cents an hour.

In calling for the guaranteed wage plan, which in effect would give workers three-quarters of their normal pay in slack periods for as long as a year, Murray said it was not socialistic.

"Our guaranteed annual wage proposal is drafted with the best interest of our American free enterprise system in mind," he said. "It will strengthen American free enterprise, now and over the long run."

'Would Strike Dismay'
"And its adoption would strike dismay in the hearts of the men in the Kremlin who are banking on American economic distress as their most valuable fifth column in the campaign to weaken free institutions and hasten the spread of Communist dictatorship."

In launching the proposal to an internal "point four" program, Murray said:

"Most Americans gain a solid and justifiable sense of satisfaction from the pioneering efforts of our government to help our less fortunate neighbors overseas."

But the acclaim that could rebound to the benefit of the steel industry for moving ahead with a domestic point four program on this forgotten front of our own economy, would be of tremendous and overwhelming proportions."

Murray said it was "high time that America—labor and industry, both—came to grips with the human problems of unemployment."

One man was killed and two were seriously injured when two autos collided head-on in the center lane of Route 9W a half-mile north of Marlborough at 5:30 p. m. Thursday, state police reported.

Peter Porpiglia, 25, of Lattin-town road, Milton, was killed instantly, troopers said.

Seriously injured were John Amodeo, 26, of Marlborough, Porpiglia's brother-in-law, and Eugene Gabriel Giacona, 34, a drug salesman of 21 Gardner street, Newburgh, troopers said.

The two automobiles involved were traveling in opposite directions, and each was in the center lane.

Revenue Official Declares
Illegal Gambling Halts

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A revenue official says the new federal gambling tax has virtually halted illegal gambling in the United States but he added: "I don't know how long the honeymoon will last."

Eugene Coyle, the revenue bureau's expert on the gambling tax, said yesterday the new tax has choked off 90 per cent of the nation's estimated 20 billion dollar a year illegal gambling business.

The majority of the gamblers still operating, he said, are small fry.

Coyle said "most of the big time gamblers have closed shop" because they are afraid to reveal their illegal operations to police, the public and the press as the new law requires.

In another development, the Federal Communications Commission ordered a probe into how gamblers are using Western Union telegraph wires.

Western Union had proposed to put new regulations governing transmission of horse and dog racing news into effect midnight last night, but the FCC ordered a postponement until May 3 to give it time to hold public hearings.

It said it wanted to find out, among other things, whether the regulations violate constitutional guarantees such as freedom of speech and the press, and whether they will successfully cut off service to illegal gambling interests.

In New York a Western Union spokesman said the company is "caught" in the middle because courts have held that racing and other sports information is legal.

He said the company itself is anxious to cut off transmission of illegal information.

Regarding the federal gamblers tax, Coyle gave these figures: A total of 8,913 gamblers over the nation bought tax stamps in December compared with 1,556 in November, the first month under the law. Most of these were petty operators, such as punch-board dealers in states where punchboards are legal.

Gamblers reported about two million dollars in business for November and paid the 10 per cent tax amounting to more than $199,000.

This sum, added to the $383,504 paid in for tax stamps, brought collections from gamblers through December to $582,504. Congressmen estimated when they passed the law that they might get 400 million dollars a year in revenue.

That Is Not

Red Cross Rejected

Chinese Claim Red Cross
Is Not Neutral, Hence
They Refuse

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 1 (AP)—Red negotiators proposed today that the fate of 600,000 displaced Korean civilians be left to the "good faith" of the allies and Communists.

The Reds (1) turned down a UN plan to have neutrals find out where the displaced Koreans want to live, (2) cut the allied proposal for inspections at 12 ports of entry to three, and (3) did not reply to the allied selection of Switzerland, Sweden and Norway as neutral observers of a Korean truce.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said "we told them good faith was not enough" guarantee that displaced civilians would be allowed to live where they choose. He said "everything was very amicable except they didn't agree."

Red Cross Spurned
The UN proposed that neutral teams interview displaced persons after the Reds again rejected a proposal to give the job to the International Committee of the Red Cross. The Communists said they wanted no part of the Red Cross because it is not neutral.

There was no mention of voluntary prisoner repatriation, key stumbling block in the prisoner exchange negotiations.

Staff officers working on truce supervision machinery completed a preliminary study of the allied working draft.

The official UN command communiqué said the officers "will now attempt to resolve the differences in viewpoints, most of them minor, which have been uncovered."

Disagreement on Ports
Among the differences in viewpoint is a disagreement over how many ports of entry should be inspected by neutral teams. The UN proposed 12 on either side—24 all told. They listed Sinuiju, Hamhung and Chongjin in North Korea and Pusan, Inchon and Suwon behind allied lines.

Sinuiju is on the Manchurian border in northwestern Korea. Hamhung and Chongjin are seaports on the east coast.

The Red proposal brought prompt and unfavorable reaction from allied negotiators.

"We pointed out the impracticability of trying to limit our operations to three points and suggested that they reconsider their offer," said Col. Don O. Darrow, a UN staff officer.

Other Disputes
An allied spokesman said other disputes involve the number of troops each side may rotate, several UN held coastal islands which the Reds want and the number of neutral inspection teams behind the lines.

The UN wants 15 teams operating behind the lines of each side. The Reds have not said how many they want, but indicated they object to 15.

The staff officers aren't even discussing the principal obstacle to agreement on how to supervise an armistice. This is the question of whether the Reds have the right to build and repair military airfields.

The Communists did not reply Friday to the allied suggestion that work begin immediately on agenda item five—recommendations to belligerent governments. However, Red negotiators indicated they might have an answer Saturday.

Polio Case Reported
The first polio case of 1952 was reported to the Ulster county health department Thursday afternoon. The patient, a 16-year-old boy, a resident of this county, has been hospitalized at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie. Onset of the disease has been set at Jan. 22.

Files $150,000 Suit for Injuries

New York, Feb. 1 (Special)—A restaurant employee of the Pine Hill Country Club in Pine Hill filed suit for $150,000 Thursday in State Supreme Court here against the owner and driver of a car which struck and severely injured him on Route 28 in Shandaken last August 18.

Arthur Diaz, 23, told the court he sustained a fractured leg, hip and pelvis in the accident and is still disabled, unable to work at his regular occupation.

According to Diaz' attorney, Harold M. Weiss of New York, the car which struck Diaz left the roadway in darkness, hitting the plaintiff while the latter was some distance from the pavement, walking with several companions. None of the other men was injured.

Defendants in the case are Bela Frommer of New York, the driver of the car, and Adolph Frommer, also of this city, the owner. They have 20 days in which to answer the complaint.

Jewels Are Recovered

Washington, Feb. 1 (P)—Three 17-year-old boys described as coming from "better-than-average" families were accused today of the $33,000 jewel robbery of Jean Kennedy. She is the youngest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to England. Detectives said the trio admitted taking the jewelry from the Kennedy car four days ago. Miss Kennedy was in Chicago, but her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Kennedy said she was satisfied the collection recovered by police was complete. Officers held the three boys for juvenile authorities.

They Change Tents

Panmunjon, Korea, Feb. 1 (P)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators reached quick agreement on one point today. They decided to get out. Heavy smoke rose from a stove in a conference tent. U. S. Air Force Col. Don O. Darrow said: "I suggest we move to another tent." The Communists agreed.

Principals at Connelly Testimonial Dinner

Seated (l. to r.) Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth; Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, his newly-appointed secretary; County Attorney Fred Stang, toastmaster for the dinner and State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, county chairman of the Republican party, main speaker. Standing, Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley; Assemblyman John Wadlin; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, general chairman of the testimonial and County Judge John M. Cashin. (Freeman Photo)

200 Are Present

Other speakers at Thursday night's testimonial dinner were these:

Assemblyman John F. Wadlin: "Vince (Connelly) brought to the Ulster County Bar a scholarly attainment, and to the district attorney's office and the Republican party a desire to serve."

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn: "We worked side by side since I took office in April of 1946. It is tough to lose him. . . I am happy for him in his new position."

County Judge John M. Cashin: He is "the finest and the best. I always found him to be a gentleman. . . As city chairman, he worked zealously and hard, and never struck below the belt. He will always be the same decent and upstanding guy."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk: "I am very grateful to Vince for the efforts he put in my behalf and for the Republican party."

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly: "He guided me on many occasions."

Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley (former city chairman): "Vince well exemplifies all of the three categories of a politician. First, he is a great American. Second, an unselfish politician, and third, a statesman."

Several tributes were read at the dinner from persons unable to attend. Included in this category were messages from Conrad J. Heiselman, former mayor of Kingston; Cluett Schantz, sheriff of Ulster county, and N. LeVan Haver, former district attorney.

Father Is Present

Sharing in the honors Thursday night was James E. Connelly, father of the guest of honor. A former alderman of the Ninth Ward, the elder Mr. Connelly was singled out by several of the speakers.

Assemblyman Wadlin noted that the occasion was "as much a tribute to Mr. Connelly, his wife and the rest of the family" as it was to Vince. Mayor Newkirk noted that he served in the Common Council with Mr. Connelly, and Alderman-at-Large Kelly said that not only had he been guided politically by Vince, but he had once been guided by his father. Kelly explained that he started as a printer's devil. (James E. Connelly is mechanical superintendent with the Freeman Publishing Company.)

Toastmaster was Frederick Stang, county attorney, who kept the program moving, interspersing the serious remarks with a wealth of humorous stories.

Delegations Present

Stang termed as "very gratifying" the fact that there were Democrats who joined the meeting in paying tribute to Connelly, even though the dinner was planned primarily by the Republican party to honor him for his service as city chairman.

Among those present was a delegation from the Kingston Kiwanis Club, of which Connelly is a member, led by its president, Raymond Garraghan.

Connelly was presented with a desk set inscribed with his name and the dates he served as city chairman. He also received a bouquet of flowers sent by Kingston Lodge 550, B.P.O.E., of which he is a past exalted ruler.

In his acceptance talk, Connelly said it was a "red letter day in my life." He also thanked those who worked with him in planning

Farrell Is Fair After Early Crash Near Hyde Park

Thomas Vincent Farrell, 27, of Port Ewen, was reported in fair condition at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, this afternoon following an automobile mishap near Hyde Park on Route 9 early today.

The Dutchess county sheriff's office, Poughkeepsie, said Farrell was headed north on the route at 4:30 a. m., when the car apparently went out of control and struck stumps along the road.

The report said Farrell suffered lacerations of the head and face, an injury of the left eye and internal injuries.

Pickets Ordered At Local Business

Local 105, United Coin Operated Machine Employees Union (CIO), today ordered a picket line placed in front of the Camel Inn on Central Broadway.

Sam Getlan, business manager of the local, said the picketing was ordered because the new management of the tavern took out coin machines serviced by union men and replaced them with a coin-operated shuffleboard and a phonograph (juke box) serviced by non-union men.

The action, Getlan said, "deprived a union man of a livelihood." Picketing, by one man at a time, will be maintained in an orderly fashion and will serve to inform the public that the union considers the establishment "unfair to union labor," Getlan said.

The cigarette vending machine in the same place is union-serviced and is "not in dispute," he said.

Getlan, business manager for Local 105, operates from an office in Mount Vernon, covering the district from Westchester county north to the Albany-Schenectady and Troy area, on both sides of the Hudson. The local claims a membership of about 30 in Ulster county and a total membership of "a few hundred." Business agent for this district is Thomas Greco of Glasco. Getlan and Greco both were in this city this morning to oversee the establishment of the picket line.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 1 (P)—A labored advance carried the stock market a little higher today with steel showing the way.

Prices covered a range of three points higher to nearly two points lower with the upside far more crowded.

Trading was not especially heavy aside from the customary opening rush.

Special situations abounded. American & Foreign Power common dropped as much as 1/4% in active trading. At that time the trading was shifted to 16ths of a point. The company has been through a long process of reorganization.

St. Regis Paper, yesterday's most active issue opened on a block of 6,000 shares up 1/4% at 20% and then moved higher. Armour & Co. opened on a block of 15,000 shares off 1/4% at 11%, and thereafter traded quietly at that price.

Bethlehem Steel was a favorite in the steel division up a substantial fraction. The company reported earnings down around 13 per cent last year from the previous year, but that was much less than many in Wall Street expected.

Two Physicians Quit League In Planned Parenthood Case

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 1 (P)—Two physicians today resigned from a planned parenthood league as a result of an order by St. Francis Hospital that seven doctors on its staff quit either the hospital or the birth control group.

Two others said they decided to stay with the planned parenthood league, and two said they had asked the hospital, a Catholic institution, for an official notice of its demand in writing. The seventh doctor could not be reached for comment.

Dr. John R. Rogers, who disclosed the action of the hospital yesterday, said he had resigned by letter from the planned parenthood league. He is a former president of the Dutchess County Medical Society and a medical member of the Dutchess County League of the Planned Parenthood Association.

Dr. Martin Leiser said he had resigned from the league. Dr. Paul Lass could not be reached for comment.

Dr. Albert A. Rosenberg said he was not going to resign from either the birth control group or the hospital. Dr. Florence Gott, diener said she has decided to stay with Planned Parenthood and had asked the hospital for written notice of its action.

Also Asked for Notice

Dr. Gordon McKenize and Dr. William Bennett also said they had asked the hospital for written notice. Dr. Bennett said the "next move is up to them." Dr. McKenize said he would retain his connection with the league and that he could see no reason "why anyone should tell me how I should practice medicine."

In New York city, Dr. William T. Kennedy, chairman of the medical committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, said he hoped the hospital would reconsider its action.

"Apart from the sheer cruelty of confronting a reputable physician a 72-hour deadline in which to make a decision affecting his entire career," Dr. Kennedy said, "the proposal that these seven doctors may not publicly advocate a phase of preventive medicine that has the nearly universal support of the medical profession is a step in thought control that is wholly abhorrent to American tradition."

The Planned Parenthood League's ministerial committee said the hospital order was "inconsistent with the character of an institution which has solicited funds from and professes to serve all faiths in our community."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, dean of the Catholic clergy of Dutchess and Putnam county, said the hospital's action is "logical and just" and added: "The hospital is and always will be open to all people, but everyone knows where the hospital stands on the question of birth control."

Two Schools Are Entered, Upset

Police were notified last night and today of two entrances made at local schools where desks were reported ransacked but nothing missing.

A report last night said entrance had been made to St. Mary's school through the breaking of a window. Accounts by witnesses indicated that two boys about 15 years old, entered the school from the McEntee street side.

One woman said she had seen the boys. One window was broken as they entered and apparently another as they came out. This was at about 9:30 p. m.

Frank B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 2, said that building had been entered between the close of school yesterday and this morning. He was unable to determine how entrance or exit was made, but said desks had been ransacked in rooms throughout the building, although apparently nothing was missing.

Detective Clarence Brophy is investigating.

Ambulance Calls During January Totaled 117

Ambulance calls in January, the first month of operation of ambulances by the Kingston Hospital, totaled 117, according to a report from the hospital.

The ambulances, formerly owned by W. N. Conner service, traveled 1,471 miles in the month and carried 110 patients to and from the hospital.

Out-of-city trips included one to Albany, another to Ellenville and a third to Staten Island.

Washington, Feb. 1 (P)—Draft quotas for the spring months may be far lower than expected due to a drop in Korea casualties and an increase in enlistments. other mechanical means for birth control.

In 22 years of medical practice in the community, Rogers said, he knew nothing of St. Francis Hospital's "moral code, written or unwritten, as far as it pertains to association with such an organization as the Planned Parenthood League."

"It would appear," Rogers said, "that at some time during this period the hospital administration would have given us a lecture about it."

An unidentified hospital spokesman said the institution would not withdraw its request to the physicians.

Files $150,000 Suit for Injuries

New York, Feb. 1 (Special).—A restaurant employee of the Pine Hill Country Club in Pine Hill filed suit for $150,000 Thursday in State Supreme Court here against the owner and driver of a car which struck and severely injured him on Route 28 in Shandaken last August 18.

Arthur Diaz, 23, told the court he sustained a fractured leg, hip and pelvis in the accident and is still disabled, unable to work at his regular occupation.

According to Diaz' attorney, Harold M. Weiss of New York, the car which struck Diaz left the roadway in darkness, hitting the plaintiff while the latter was some distance from the pavement, walking with several companions. None of the other men was injured.

Defendants in the case are Bela Frommer of New York, the driver of the car, and Adolph Frommer, also of this city, the owner. They have 20 days in which to answer the complaint.

Jewels Are Recovered

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Three 17-year-old boys described as coming from "better-than-average" families were accused today of the $33,000 jewel robbery of Jean Kennedy. She is the youngest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former U. S. ambassador to England. Detectives said the trio admitted taking the jewelry from the Kennedy car four days ago. Miss Kennedy was in Chicago, but her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Kennedy said she was satisfied the collection recovered by police was complete. Officers held the three boys for juvenile authorities.

They Change Tents

Panmunjon, Korea, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators reached quick agreement on one point today. They decided to get out. Heavy smoke rose from a stove in a conference tent. U. S. Air Force Col. Don O. Darrow said: "I suggest we move to another tent." The Communists agreed.

Principals at Connelly Testimonial Dinner

Seated (l. to r.) Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth; Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, his newly-appointed secretary; County Attorney Fred Stang, toastmaster for the dinner and State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, county chairman of the Republican party, main speaker. Standing, Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley; Assemblyman John Wadlin; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, general chairman of the testimonial and County Judge John M. Cashin. (Freeman Photo)

200 Are Present

Other speakers at Thursday night's testimonial dinner were these:

Assemblyman John F. Wadlin; "Vince (Connelly) brought to the Ulster County Bar a scholarly attainment, and to the district attorney's office and the Republican party a desire to serve."

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn: "We worked side by side since I took office in April of 1946. It is tough to lose him. I am happy for him in his new position."

County Judge John M. Cashin: "He is 'the finest and the best. I always found him to be a gentleman. . . . As city chairman, he worked zealously and hard, and never struck below the belt. He will always be the same decent and upstanding guy."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk: "I am very grateful to Vince for the efforts he put in on my behalf and for the Republican party."

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly: "He guided me on many occasions."

Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley (former city chairman): "Vince will exemplify all of the three categories of a politician. First, he is a great American. Second, an unselfish politician, and third, a statesman."

Several tributes were read at the dinner from persons unable to attend. Included in this category were messages from Conrad J. Heiselman, former mayor of Kingston; Cluett Schantz, sheriff of Ulster county; and N. LeVan Haver, former district attorney.

Father Is Present

Sharing in the honors Thursday night was James E. Connelly, father of the guest of honor. A former alderman of the Ninth Ward, the elder Mr. Connelly was singled out by several of the speakers.

Assemblyman Wadlin noted that the occasion was "as much a tribute to Mr. Connelly, his wife and the rest of the family" as to Vince. Mayor Newkirk noted that he served in the Common council with Mr. Connelly, and Alderman-at-Large Kelly said that not only had he been guided politically by Vince, but he had once been guided by his father. Kelly explained that he started as a printer's "devil." (James E. Connelly is mechanical superintendent with the Freeman Publishing Company.)

Toastmaster was Frederick Stang, county attorney, who kept the program moving, interspersing the serious remarks with a wealth of humorous stories.

Delegations Present

Stang termed as "very gratifying" the fact that there were Democrats who joined the meeting in paying tribute to Connelly, even though the dinner was planned primarily by the Republican party to honor him for his service as city chairman.

Among those present was a delegation from the Kingston Kiwanis Club, of which Connelly is a member, led by its president, Raymond Garraghan.

Connelly was presented with a desk set inscribed with his name and the dates he served as city chairman. He also received a bouquet of flowers sent by Kingston Lodge 550, B.P.O.E., of which he is a past exalted ruler.

In his acceptance talk, Connelly said it was a "red letter day in my life." He also thanked those who worked with him in planning

Farrell Is Fair After Early Crash Near Hyde Park

Thomas Vincent Farrell, 27, of Port Ewen, was reported in fair condition at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, this afternoon following an automobile mishap near Hyde Park on Route 9 early today.

The Dutchess county sheriff's office, Poughkeepsie, said Farrell was headed north on the route at 4:30 a. m., when the car apparently went out of control and struck stumps along the road.

The report said Farrell suffered lacerations of the head and face, an injury of the left eye and internal injuries.

Picketing Ordered At Local Business

Local 105, United Coin Operated Machine Employees Union (CIO), today ordered a picket line placed in front of the Camel Inn on Central Broadway.

Getlan, business manager of the local, said the picketing was ordered because the new management of the tavern took out coin machines serviced by union men and replaced them with a coin-operated jukebox and a phonograph (shuff box) serviced by non-union men.

The action, Getlan said, "deprived a union man of a livelihood." Picketing by one man at a time, will be maintained in an orderly fashion and will serve to inform the public that the union considers the establishment "unfair to union labor," Getlan said.

The cigarette vending machine in the same place is union-serviced and is "not in dispute," he said.

Getlan, business manager for Local 105, operates from an office in Mount Vernon, covering the district from Westchester county north to the Albany, Schenectady and Troy area, on both sides of the Hudson. The local claims a membership of about 30 in the vestry hall. Lighting of Sabbath candles Friday at 4:57 p. m. Weekly portion, Bo. Sabbath morning services Saturday at 9 o'clock. Sunday school on Sunday at 10 a. m. Confirmation class will meet in the synagogue Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Newbold Morris, prominent Republican lawyer, today accepted the job of supervising the federal government cleanup program.

West Virginia was carved out of the state of Virginia and became a state in 1863 during the Civil War.

political campaigns, stressing that the Republican party "was never a one-man rule," but that its leaders worked as a group in planning. Once a decision was made, however, the entire group cooperated in carrying out the plans "without rancor or bitterness."

One Killed; Two

lane attempting to pass other vehicles, state police reported.

Thrown From Car

Porpiglia was thrown from the automobile in which he was riding, according to Coroner Ernest A. Kelly who investigated the death. Amodeo was listed on the state police report as driver of the car in which Porpiglia had been riding, and which was traveling in a northerly direction. The other vehicle, headed south, was driven by Giacoma, troopers said. Sheriff Cluett Schantz investigated with troopers of the Highland station and Coroner Kelly.

The two drivers were pinned in their vehicles and traffic was tied up for at least a half-hour while they were extricated. Both were taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh by ambulance.

Amodeo and Giacoma each suffered "fractures, lacerations and other serious injuries," troopers said.

Following an autopsy at the Tuthill Funeral Home in Marlborough, Porpiglia's body was transferred to the Torsone Memorial Funeral Home, 218 Mill street, Poughkeepsie.

Verdict Withheld

The autopsy by Drs. Herbert Derman of Kingston and W. B. Harris of Marlborough showed death was due to multiple skull fractures, ruptured spleen and abdominal hemorrhage. Coroner Kelly reported. The coroner's verdict has been withheld pending completion of the investigation.

Porpiglia, who was married, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Porpiglia of the Lattintown road.

American Complaints

Vancouver, B. C. (AP)—The Vancouver Tourist Association faithfully noted down suggestions and complaints by American visitors for study at its annual meeting. "City far too smoky" headed the list. Other visitors wanted to know "where are the Indians?"

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A labored advance carried the stock market a little higher today with steel showing the way.

Prices covered a range of three points higher to nearly two points lower with the upside far more crowded.

Trading was not especially heavy aside from the customary opening rush.

Special situations abounded. American & Foreign Power common dropped as much as 1/4 at 1/2 in active trading. At that time the trading was shifted to 16ths of a point. The company has been through a long process of reorganization.

St. Regis Paper, yesterday's most active issue opened on a block of 6,000 shares up 1/4 at 20 1/2 and then moved higher. Armour & Co. opened on a block of 15,000 shares off 1/4 at 11 1/2, and thereafter traded quietly at that price.

Bethlehem Steel was a favorite in the steel division up a substantial fraction. The company reported earnings down around 13 per cent last year from the previous year, but that was much less than many in Wall Street expected.

Robert Webber. Robert Webber, 92, died Thursday evening at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Bessie Warren at Marlborough, where he had resided for the past 15 years. Mr. Webber had been superintendent of the Ring estate at Saugerties for many years. He was a member of Saugerties Fire Department, William A. Raymond Lodge, 59, IOOF, of Saugerties. Two grandchildren, Edward Webber of Revere, Mass., and Robert E. Webber of West Englewood, N. J., and several nieces and nephews survive. Funeral services will be held at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial in Montrose Cemetery.

Thomas J. Stenson. Thomas J. Stenson of 208 West Chestnut street, died in his home this morning following a protracted illness. Born in New York city, the son of Timothy J. and Maria Reilly Stenson, he came to this city over 60 years ago and has resided in the Rondout section ever since. For many years he had charge of the Archie Winter's Express Company. Following the dissolution of the company, he became captain of the stake boat in New York, for the Cornell Steamboat Company. He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Holy Name Society. Besides his wife, who before her marriage was Mary V. Rafferty, he is survived by a daughter, Jane R. Stenson; five sons, Thomas J., William F., Joseph T., Robert D. and Francis X. Stenson; also 10 grandchildren. The funeral will be held from his late residence Monday at 9:30 a. m. and at St. Mary's Church 10 a. m. where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Two Physicians Quit League In Planned Parenthood Case

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Two physicians today resigned from a planned parenthood league as a result of an order by St. Francis Hospital that seven doctors on its staff quit either the hospital or the birth control group.

Two others said they decided to stay with the planned parenthood league, and two said they had asked the hospital, a Catholic institution, for an official notice of its demand in writing. The seventh doctor could not be reached for comment.

Dr. John R. Rogers, who disclosed the action of the hospital yesterday, said he had resigned by letter from the planned parenthood league. He is a former president of the Dutchess County Medical Society and a medical member of the Dutchess County League of the Planned Parenthood Association.

Dr. Martin Leiser said he had resigned from the league. Dr. Paul Lass could not be reached for comment.

Dr. Albert A. Rosenberg said he was not going to resign from either the birth control group or the hospital. Dr. Florence Gottlieb said she had decided to stay with Planned Parenthood and had asked the hospital for written notice of its action.

Also Asked for Notice. Dr. Gordon McKenzie and Dr. William Bennett also said they had asked the hospital for written notice. Dr. Bennett said the "next move is up to them." Dr. McKenzie said he would retain his connection with the league and that he could see no reason "why anyone should tell me how I should practice medicine."

In New York city, Dr. William T. Kennedy, chairman of the medical committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, said he hoped the hospital would reconsider its action.

"Apart from the sheer cruelty of confronting a reputable physician a 72-hour deadline in which to make a decision affecting his entire career," Dr. Kennedy said, "the proposal that these seven doctors may not publicly advocate a phase of preventive medicine that has the nearly universal support of the medical profession is a step in thought control that is wholly abhorrent to American tradition."

The Planned Parenthood League's ministerial committee said the hospital order was "inconsistent with the character of an institution which has solicited funds from and professes to serve all faiths in our community."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, dean of the Catholic clergy of Dutchess and Putnam counties, said the hospital's action is "logical and just" and added:

"The hospital is and always will be open to all people, but everyone knows where the hospital stands on the question of birth control."

The Roman Catholic doctrine bans use of contraceptives or other mechanical means for birth control.

In 22 years of medical practice in the community, Rogers said, he knew nothing of St. Francis Hospital's "moral code, written or unwritten, as far as it pertains to association with such an organization as the Planned Parenthood League."

"It would appear," Rogers said, "that at some time during this period the hospital administration would have given us a lecture about it."

An unidentified hospital spokesman said the institution would not withdraw its request to the physicians.

Two Schools Are Entered, Upset

Police were notified last night and today of two entrances made at local schools where desks were reported ransacked but nothing missing.

A report last night said entrance had been made to St. Mary's school through the breaking of a window. Accounts by witnesses indicated that two boys about 15 years old, entered the school from the McEntee street side.

One woman said she had seen the boys. One window was broken as they entered and apparently another as they came out. This was at about 9:30 p. m.

Frank B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 2, said that building had been entered between the close of school yesterday and this morning. He was unable to determine how entrance or exit was made, but said desks had been ransacked in rooms throughout the building, although apparently nothing was missing.

Detective Clarence Brophy is investigating.

Ambulance Calls During January Totaled 117

Ambulance calls in January, the first month of operation of ambulances by the Kingston Hospital, totaled 117, according to a report from the hospital.

The ambulances, formerly owned by W. N. Conner service, traveled 1,471 miles in the month and carried 110 patients to and from the hospital.

Out-of-city trips included one to Albany, another to Ellenville and a third to Staten Island.

Quotas May Be Lower

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Draft quotas for the spring months may be far lower than expected due to a drop in Korea casualties and an increase in enlistments. This is the latest Selective Service prediction following a mixup yesterday in which Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey first forecast a sharp increase for the April-May-June period but later said a mistake had been made.

Democrats Offer Their Program for 1952 Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—The Legislature's Democratic minority wants to make farm workers eligible for unemployment insurance, sickness disability benefits and workmen's compensation.

Extension of the state's three big social insurances to agricultural workers was part of a 10-point farm program proposed last night by the Democratic leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut.

They called also for a "genuine investigation" into the milk price spread and a "state-conducted audit of the operations of the big milk companies."

Quinn and Steingut urged continued opposition to "any alteration in the present state-federal milk marketing arrangements (which) have brought the state's dairy farmers the greatest prosperity and stability in history."

Would Push Program

The Democratic chiefs said they would push their program although, they asserted, "it is apparent that the strategy of the Republican leaders is to tip-toe through the current session of the Legislature avoiding all controversial matters."

The Democratic proposals, they contended, were "geared within the framework of the state's present revenues and will mean no increased taxes."

Quinn and Steingut did not recommend that the insurance coverage be extended to farm workers immediately.

Instead, they proposed creation of a joint legislative committee "to study ways of extending the coverage to those employed on farms." All agricultural workers are now excluded from such coverage.

The Erwin Commission last year completed a three-year study on the milk price spread. It found that prices could be cut through greater economies in processing and distributing and recommended many methods.

Called It 'Foolish'

The Democrats have called the commission report "foolish," "wasteful" and a "whitewash" of the big milk companies.

The Democratic program also called for:

Encouragement of farm marketing cooperatives and opposition to "any revision of existing state law which would curtail their most effective functioning."

Greater participation in the federal-state farm-to-market road program and increased state aid for construction and maintenance of secondary roads.

Expansion of diagnostic laboratories to control and eradicate dairy and poultry diseases and to increase research for fruit and vegetable growers.

Establishment and strict enforcement of a code of minimum standards governing working and living conditions of migratory farm laborers and their families.

Expanded health protection for farm people by encouraging doctors and dentists to settle in rural areas. State financial aid would be provided to permit their employment by school boards if they also established private practices.

Continuation of a "full scale" state fair at the "present site" in Syracuse.

I Eat What I Like

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Denial of tax exemptions for subversive organizations and tax deductions for persons who contribute to them has been proposed in the Legislature.

The measures were introduced yesterday by Senator William F. Condon and Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Westchester Republicans. The bills were aimed at Communist and Red-front groups.

Groups affected would be those listed by State Board of Regents as subversive, as defined under the 1949 Feinberg Law. The law now is before the U. S. Supreme Court for a decision as to its constitutionality.

On the denial of exemptions, the Condon-Wilson measure would allow court review to determine whether an organization was subversive.

A bill was introduced earlier in the session that would make it a crime to belong to or contribute money to a subversive organization.

Meanwhile, Democratic Senator Fred G. Moritt of Brooklyn proposed that most members of the Board of Regents be elected directly by the people.

Would Fix Membership

His bill would fix membership on the board at no fewer than nine and no more than three greater than the number of state judicial districts. Regents would be elected by the voters of each district.

All 13 Regents now are elected by the Legislature—one from each of the 10 judicial districts and three at large.

Other bills would:

Make it slander or libel, and permit action for damages, to report that a person was indicted for a crime or charged with one, after the indictment or complaint had been set aside or dismissed, or a conviction had been reversed. (Senator Moritt.)

Increase from $250 to $350 the maximum amount of damages for injury to purebred dairy cattle by dogs, and fix a maximum for damages or loss of pure bred sheep at $100. (Senator Thomas C. Desmond, R-Newburgh.)

Exempt from a jury duty all teachers in public or private schools actually engaged in their professions as a means of livelihood. (Senator Joseph Zaretzki, D-Manhattan.)

Mrs. Patterson Asks Sympathy For Pilot's Widow

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—The widow of Robert P. Patterson, former secretary of war who perished in the Elizabeth, N. J., plane crash of Jan. 22, appealed last night for public sympathy with the pilot's widow.

Speaking over radio station WNBC last night, Mrs. Patterson urged listeners to use their "inexhaustible flood of sympathy and strength to give moral support to the widow of Capt. Thomas John Reid," pilot of the American Airlines plane.

"Besides," Mrs. Patterson said, "she had to bear wickedly foolish rumors blaming her husband for the accident and now she is in the hospital.

It seems impossible that any one could be so ungenerous and inhuman. The favorite toast to the people who fly is 'Happy Landings.' And we must face the fact that the landing is always in God's hands."

Mrs. Reid is expecting her third child next summer.

Extension Recommended

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—The State Advisory Council on Placement and Unemployment Insurance has recommended extension of jobless insurance benefits to workers with firms employing fewer than four persons. In its annual report to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the state Legislature, released yesterday, the council said extension of jobless benefits would remove the "most obvious inequity" in New York state's law. The report added that 17 other states already have adopted the extended coverage.

Stickup Men Rob Pair of $27,700

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Three men wearing Halloween masks and carrying guns robbed a manufacturer and his wife of $27,500 in jewels and furs and $200 cash last night.

The victims, Max Spelrein, 62, and his wife, Mae, 50, encountered the robbers when they returned to their apartment in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn after visiting friends.

It was the third major apartment house robbery in the city this week. The other stickups, both in Manhattan, netted $14,000 in jewels and $1,500 in cash on Wednesday and $100,000 in jewels on Monday.

The Spelreins walked into drawn guns as they left the apartment elevator at the fourth floor.

After forcing the couple to open their door, the robbers gathered up the loot in a 25-minute ransacking. They ripped out the telephone wires.

The robbers then taped the couple's mouths and hands and fled. Spelrein awakened a neighbor by knocking on a door with his hands, and police were called.

Agree to Pay Bill

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Slaughterers across the nation have agreed to foot the bill so 280 government meat inspectors won't be fired because of a lack of federal funds. The Agriculture Department notified the inspectors two weeks ago they would be laid off. But yesterday it said the slaughterers affected would finance the operation through inspection fees rather than face a slowdown in their meat output.

The inspectors, located in meat packing plants, are part of the more than 2,800 who check on the U. S. meat supply.

Actress Expects Child

Rome, Feb. 1 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman said today she and her film-director husband, Roberto Rossellini, "are expecting another baby in June."

"We have already told a number of friends about it," the Swedish-born actress said in a telephone conversation from her home near Rome. The child will be her third. She bore Rossellini their first child, a son, Feb. 2, 1950. She has an older daughter by her first marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

'Will Tread Lightly'

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—American security forces left behind when the occupation ends will tread as lightly as possible on Japanese sovereignty, Dean Rusk said today. Rusk, chief of U. S. mission working out details of the U. S.-Japan Security Pact, said the armed forces would use only those facilities and areas that would "permit the efficient performance of the duties laid upon such forces."

Newspaper Circulation Exceeds 54 Million

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Total 1951 daily newspaper circulations in the United States exceeded 54 million for the first time in history, Editor and Publisher reported yesterday.

On Jan. 1, 1952, the trade publication said, there were 1,773 daily newspapers in the U. S. On Oct. 31, the latest available for complete figures, their combined daily net paid circulation was 54,017,938.

In 1950, the total was 53,829,072.

Evening dailies number 1,454, a net gain of four over a year ago. There are 319 dailies in the morning field, representing a net loss of three compared with last year's figures.

Kingstonian Has Store on Wheels On Jap Island

Uncle Sam's fighting men on Hokkaido, northernmost island of Japan, are not deprived of the luxuries and necessities of life and a Kingstonian man is assigned to see that they get them.

Pic. Herbert T. Wilson of this city, according to the Army Home Town News Center, Kansas City, Mo., is in charge of sales aboard a "store on wheels" in Japan.

The store is a post exchange sales train, which supplies American military forces with the luxuries and necessities of life, a sort of traveling post exchange, which reaches all parts of Hokkaido.

Every other week two rail cars are sent on a tour of the island with all the varied stock that is to be found in an army post exchange. Accompanying Wilson on the trip and aiding in the sales is a Japanese national, Shoji Yoshida of Sapporo, Japan.

Among the fastest selling items on the train, Wilson says, are food dainties, beverages and cigarettes. Various gift items are also available.

Bus Drivers Strike

Mahwah, N. J., Feb. 1 (AP)—Bus drivers of the Hudson Transit Lines, Inc.—a short busline service which operates in Bergen county, N. J., and portions of Pennsylvania and lower New York state—staged a strike today over a wage dispute. The walkout of some 50 bus operators occurred shortly after midnight following a breakdown in negotiations. Negotiations, which started last December, collapsed late last night at company's offices here.

Rickenbacker Makes Plea To Continue Newark Site

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, claims a "mass of misleading information" surrounds the recent New Jersey air crashes.

He also asserted yesterday that the incidents are being exploited by "a few ambitious political figures." He did not mention any names.

Rickenbacker, in a news conference held at the Wings Club, Hotel Biltmore, in making a plea for the continued operation of Newark Airport, urged "secure thinking" on the part of the public.

He said the New Jersey state government and federal government agencies "have initiated constructive steps toward providing the best possible solution to the problem that exists."

At the same time 12 pilot captains, representing six scheduled airlines, declared they had not lost any confidence in present navigational aids or traffic control systems because of the New Jersey accidents. The pilots indicated it was their belief that the majority of airplane pilots flying today are of the same feeling.

The airline pilots also went on record that they were against any raising of landing minimums at Newark Airport, as reported to be under consideration.

Rickenbacker, whose airline operates about 50 per cent of its flights from Newark Airport, said that Newark is the "best situated, best equipped, and the safest airport in the entire country."

He said there has not been a "single fatal accident to a scheduled airline operation within the area of the airport which was in any way attributable to the site or facilities there."

Concerning the recent New Jersey accidents, he said it is regrettable that "these unfortunate circumstances always attract a few ambitious political figures who, for their own ends, seek to capitalize on such tragedies and thus further public confusion and misunderstanding." He did not amplify this statement.

Rickenbacker said Newark Airport's value to New Jersey, the metropolitan area, and the country is "incalculable." He rated it the 12th ranking airport in the nation.

He said none of the three recent accidents in New Jersey were due to "facilities or location of Newark Airport."

Rickenbacker said the meeting was called to give the public all the information to which it was entitled. Attending the meeting were about 30 representatives of various airline, CAA, Port Authority and pilots' organizations. Gen. Milton Arnold, vice president of the Air Transport Association, presided at the meeting.

The number of milk cows on U. S. farms has changed little in the last three years.

Democrats Offer Their Program for 1952 Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—The Legislature's Democratic minority wants to make farm workers eligible for unemployment insurance, sickness disability benefits and workmen's compensation.

Extension of the state's three big social insurances to agricultural workers was part of a 10-point farm program proposed last night by the Democratic leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut.

They called also for a "genuine investigation" into the milk price spread and a "state-conducted audit of the operations of the big milk companies."

Quinn and Steingut urged continued opposition to "any alteration in the present state-federal milk marketing arrangements (which) have brought the state's dairy farmers the greatest prosper-perity and stability in history."

Would Push Program

The Democratic chiefs said they would push their program although, they asserted, "it is apparent that the strategy of the Republican leaders is to tip-toe through the current session of the Legislature avoiding all controversial matters."

The Democratic proposals, they contended, were "geared within the framework of the state's present revenues and will mean no increased taxes."

Quinn and Steingut did not recommend that the insurance coverage be extended to farm workers immediately.

Instead, they proposed creation of a joint legislative committee "to study ways of extending the coverage to those employed on farms." All agricultural workers are now excluded from such coverage.

The Erwin Commission last year completed a three-year study on the milk price spread. It found that prices could be cut through greater economies in processing and distributing and recommended many methods.

Called It 'Foolish'

The Democrats have called the commission report "foolish," "wasteful" and a "whitewash" of the big milk companies.

The Democratic program also called for:

Encouragement of farm marketing cooperatives and opposition to "any revision of existing state law which would curtail their most effective functioning."

Greater participation in the federal-state farm-to-market road program and increased state aid for construction and maintenance of secondary roads.

Expansion of diagnostic laboratories to control and eradicate dairy and poultry diseases and to increase research for fruit and vegetable growers.

Establishment and strict enforcement of a code of minimum standards governing working and living conditions of migratory farm laborers and their families.

Expanded health protection for farm people by encouraging doctors and dentists to settle in rural areas. State financial aid would be provided to permit their employment by school boards if they also established private practices.

Continuation of a "full scale" state fair at the "present site" in Syracuse.

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Denial of tax exemptions for subversive organizations and tax deductions for persons who contribute to them has been proposed in the Legislature.

The measures were introduced yesterday by Senator William F. Condon and Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Westchester Republicans. The bills were aimed at Communist and Red-front groups.

Groups affected would be those listed by State Board of Regents as subversive, as defined under the 1949 Feinberg Law. The law now is before the U. S. Supreme Court for a decision as to its constitutionality.

On the denial of exemptions, the Condon-Wilson measure would allow court review to determine whether an organization was subversive.

A bill was introduced earlier in the session that would make it a crime to belong to or contribute money to a subversive organization.

Meanwhile, Democratic Senator Fred G. Moritt of Brooklyn proposed that most members of the Board of Regents be elected directly by the people.

Would Fix Membership

His bill would fix membership on the board at no fewer than nine and no more than three greater than the number of state judicial districts. Regents would be elected by the voters of each district.

All 13 Regents now are elected by the Legislature—one from each of the 10 judicial districts and three at large.

Other bills would:

Make it slander or libel, and permit action for damages, to report that a person was indicted for a crime or charged with one, after the indictment or complaint had been set aside or dismissed, or a conviction had been reversed.

(Senator Moritt).

Increase from $250 to $350 the maximum amount of damages for injury to purebred dairy cattle by dogs, and fix a maximum for damages or loss of pure bred sheep at $100. (Senator Thomas C. Desmond, R-Newburgh).

Exempt from a jury duty all teachers in public or private schools actually engaged in their professions as a means of livelihood. (Senator Joseph Zaretzki, D-Manhattan).

Mrs. Patterson Asks Sympathy For Pilot's Widow

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—The widow of Robert P. Patterson, former secretary of war who perished in the Elizabeth, N. J., plane crash of Jan. 22, appealed last night for public sympathy with the pilot's widow.

Speaking over radio station WNBC last night, Mrs. Patterson urged listeners to use their "inexhaustible flood of sympathy and strength to give moral support to the widow of Capt. Thomas John Reid, pilot of the American Airlines plane."

"Besides Mrs. Reid's other troubles," Mrs. Patterson said, "she had to bear wickedly foolish rumors blaming her husband for the accident and now she is in the hospital."

"It seems impossible that any one could be so ungenerous and inhuman. The favorite toast to the people who fly is 'Happy Landings.' And we must face the fact that the landing is always in God's hands."

Mrs. Reid is expecting her third child next summer.

Extension Recommended

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—The State Advisory Council on Placement and Unemployment Insurance has recommended extension of jobless insurance benefits to workers with firms employing fewer than four persons. In its annual report to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the state Legislature, released yesterday, the council said extension of jobless benefits would remove the "most obvious inequity" in New York state's law. The report added that 17 other states already have adopted the extended coverage.

Stickup Men Rob Pair of $27,700

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Three men wearing Halloween masks and carrying guns robbed a manufacturer and his wife of $27,500 in jewels and furs and $200 cash last night.

The victims, Max Spelrein, 62, and his wife, Mae, 50, encountered the robbers when they returned to their apartment in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn after visiting friends.

It was the third major apartment house robbery in the city this week. The other stickups, both in Manhattan, netted $114,000 in jewels and $1,500 in cash on Wednesday and $100,000 in jewels on Monday.

The Spelreins walked into drawn guns as they left the apartment elevator at the fourth floor.

After forcing the couple to open their door, the robbers gathered up the loot in a 25-minute ransacking. They ripped out the telephone wires.

The robbers then taped the couple's mouths and hands and fled. Spelrein awakened a neighbor by knocking on a door with his hands, and police were called.

Agree to Pay Bill

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Slaughterers across the nation have agreed to foot the bill so 280 government meat inspectors won't be fired because of a lack of federal funds. The Agriculture Department notified the inspectors two weeks ago they would be laid off. But yesterday it said the slaughterers affected would finance the operation through inspection fees rather than face a slowdown in their meat output.

The inspectors, located in meat packing plants, are part of the more than 2,800 who check on the U. S. meat supply.

Actress Expects Child

Rome, Feb. 1 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman said today she and her film-director husband, Roberto Rossellini, "are expecting another baby in June."

"We have already told a number of friends about it," the Swedish-born actress said in a telephone conversation from her home near Rome. The child will be her third. She bore Rossellini their first child, a son, Feb. 2, 1950. She has an older daughter by her first marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

'Will Tread Lightly'

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—American security forces left behind when the occupation ends will tread as lightly as possible on Japanese sovereignty, Dean Rusk said today. Rusk, chief of the U. S. mission working out details of the U. S.-Japan Security Pact, said the armed forces would use only those facilities and areas that would "permit the efficient performance of the duties laid upon such forces."

Newspaper Circulation Exceeds 54 Million

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Total 1951 daily newspaper circulations in the United States exceeded 54 million for the first time in history, Editor and Publisher reported yesterday.

On Jan. 1, 1952, the trade publication said, there were 1,773 daily newspapers in the U. S. on Oct. 31, the latest available for complete figures, their combined daily net paid circulation was 54,017,938.

In 1950, the total was 53,829,072.

Evening dailies number 1,454, a net gain of four over a year ago. There are 319 dailies in the morning field, representing a net loss of three compared with last year's figures.

During the year, there was a net loss of six Sunday newspapers, cutting the total to 543 with total circulation of 46,279,358.

TOWARD ACTION IN KOREA

The United States is taking steps to arrange for a special session of the United Nations General Assembly to discuss Korea if a truce agreement should be reached or if there should be some other important new development in the armistice talks. Presumably the official abandonment of the talks or another suspension of them, if either should occur, would supply sufficient reason for calling the special session.

In making this move our government thus indicates that it is not willing to go on indefinitely talking in circles in the Korea negotiations. High officials could be hopeful that the logjam may break and the talks move forward to a successful conclusion. Or they could be making ready for the opposite possibility that the tempers which have been wearing thin at Pannunjom may snap or that the U.N. negotiators may decide that the attempt at a truce is hopeless.

There have been many indications, over the past few years, that the Communists have not been doing any better at guessing what we are likely to do than we have been at foreseeing their actions. There is probably an even chance that they will guess wrongly as to what this move in the United Nations means about the durability of our patience in Korea. But if that is true then there is also an even chance that they will guess rightly, and conclude that the merry-go-round has been kept going around about long enough. Such a conclusion could help the situation.

FAMOUS NEW YORK NAME

A name once familiar in New York political history has reappeared. In the fight for delegates to the Republican National Convention, the Buffalo leader of Governor Thomas E. Dewey's forces is William L. Marcy.

An ancestor of the same name was one of the most eminent of all New Yorkers in the days of Andrew Jackson. Governor three times and senator, he was secretary of war under Polk and secretary of state under Pierce. In 1852 he had support for the presidential nomination in the deadlocked Democratic convention which nominated Pierce. The record of Pierce was such as to suggest that Marcy might have been a happier choice.

Marcy is best remembered for a remark on political patronage that has been summarized for all time as "To the victors belong the spoils." While these were not his precise words, they fairly expressed his views. They did not, however, give a true idea of the high principles which made him an ornament to New York's public life.

YEARS OF WAITING

A survey of the way people spend their time, made at the University of Wisconsin, produced the estimate that the average person who lives to the age of seventy will have spent three years of his life waiting. What does a person wait for? Some periods of waiting, such as the margin for error at the bus stop, are unavoidable, but by far the most of the waiting is done because other people are slow-moving or fail to be at a meeting place at the appointed time. If everyone would take pains not to keep someone else waiting needlessly, think of all the years which could be saved in the lives of people who live to be seventy.

New York's Rural Letter Carriers Association and the New York State Grange are among the groups seeking protection of the state's roads from heavy trucks through a reduction in the state's allowable truck loads. They recommend that New York lower its truck load limit per axle to 18,000 pounds to reduce the damage our roads suffer from the loads now permitted. New York currently permits truck loads as high as 22,400 pounds per axle.

The State Tax Commission reports that New York smokers reduced 41.5 billion cigarettes to ashes in 1951 and thereby established a new record for puffing and paying. The cigarette tax receipts in 1951 at three cents a pack aggregated $59,699,112. Of

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ANOTHER ELEMENT OF DANGER

The Japanese Peace Treaty is, on the whole, a good treaty; yet, ratification should be slow. The treaty provides:

"All occupation forces of the Allied Powers shall be withdrawn from Japan as soon as possible after the coming into force of the present treaty, and in any case not later than 90 days thereafter. Nothing in this provision shall, however, prevent the stationing or retention of foreign armed forces in Japanese territory under or in consequence of any bilateral or multilateral agreements which have been or may be made between one or more of the Allied Powers, on the one hand, and Japan on the other."

Even though a "Security Treaty" between the United States of America and Japan" has been negotiated, the fact remains that Soviet Russia is not a party to the San Francisco treaty and therefore is still at war with Japan. Should we step out of Japan, Russia could step in. Whatever measures we take to reduce our military establishment in no manner affects Russia's right to expand hers. Russia could even dump upon Japan the host of Japanese prisoners-of-war who have been retained by Russia for several years and who have been indoctrinated and prepared for the Communist revolution in Japan. Although the retention of these prisoners-of-war is a violation of the Potsdam agreement, the Russians have refused to release them or adequately report about them.

It is supposed to be a deep secret, but it is strongly reported that the Pentagon and the State Department are in disagreement on this subject, the military taking the position that it is dangerous to imperil our troops in Korea, while the State Department feels that it is bound to press for ratification.

If the question is asked, what will be done if Russia takes advantage of our departure from Japan and sets herself up in that country as a conqueror, the answer is that that would be an act of war. Does that mean that we should then have to go to war with Soviet Russia to liberate Japan? It would be simpler to delay ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty, thus postponing our obligation to leave that country within 90 days after that event. We might postpone such ratification, at any rate, until the Korean War is over.

No Japanese official could afford to say that he would like ratification postponed. It would be admitting that without the physical presence in Japan of American troops, that country still stands in peril of imminent conquest by Soviet Russia. Japan has lived in that peril since the 1880's.

It is not altogether understandable why the State Department is in such a great hurry to obtain ratification from the United States Senate. Nothing immediate is to be gained; much danger may arise from such ratification. Delay could give Japan more time for reconstruction. Actually, a Japanese government is now in control of that country, and the Japanese political system is being restored. Why is it necessary to take chances while American troops are in Korea? Are those troops to be squeezed between the Russian-controlled forces in Manchuria and a revolutionary Japan? Surely, none of that can be right.

Possibly the only hope to get at the whole truth of this will be in a hearing before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate. Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett, while he has long associations with the New Deal, in both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, is most favorably regarded even by Republicans. It is not likely that he would say before a Senate committee, under oath, what he did not believe to be true. It is likely that if properly questioned, particularly concerning the relations between the Korean campaign and the ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty, he would not avoid the precise truth.

At any rate, that is the best hope we have of getting at the truth of this business. The continuing value of Congressional investigations is that they always bring out some of the facts in a situation. Our foreign policy has been secretly conducted for secret objectives, but as the 1952 Presidential campaign approaches, there will be an increasing clamor for precise facts and a clear explanation of them. The reason for the speed in the ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty requires detailed explanation.

WORK THE HEART CAN DO

I watched the heart examination of a close relative by a noted heart specialist. After taking the blood pressure, electrocardiograph, fluoroscope (X-ray) of chest and outline of the position and size of the heart, he had the patient sit down and chat pleasantly with him. He asked him where he lived, how he came home, what part of the journey was walking and just where, as the district patient's home was elevated, did he get out of breath during this part of the journey and if he was breathing easily when he arrived home. He then told me privately that he considered the little chat with the questions and answers as important in estimating the actual condition of the heart as the electrocardiogram and X-ray examination.

It was the actual physical work the patient was able to do without becoming breathless that permitted him to "estimate" how much exercise the patient could do safely and how much rest, day and night, was advisable.

In The Ontario Medical Review, Dr. W. A. Oille, Department of Medicine, University of Toronto, states:

"In heart disease, fundamental methods of investigation—patient's history, actual work (functional) enquiry, and physical examination—contribute about eighty-five per cent of the information necessary to establish a diagnosis. Special procedures—X-ray, electrocardiograph, biochemistry (the chemistry of living organisms and vital processes—supply the additional 10 to 15 per cent."

The fact that X-ray and electrocardiograph examination is not as important as the ability of the heart to do its daily work without too early shortness of breath may be a surprise to many of us.

When heart failure occurs, with enlargement of the liver and accumulation of water at base of lungs and in feet and legs, bed rest until these symptoms pass over is the treatment and when a heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) occurs, bed rest for four to six weeks is the "must" treatment. A heart patient, after getting back on his feet, needs nine to 11 hours of rest at night with one-half to one hour's relaxation in the middle of the day's work.

The final word to patients and physicians also is: If heart disease is really present—encouragement, optimism and judgment temper management. Also bear in mind the damage done by incorrectly diagnosing or suggesting that heart disease might be present. The words, "your heart is slightly weak" may mean an individual with a normal or nearly normal heart live an invalid's life.

"Who's Going to Carry the Ball?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Sometimes I tell Mrs. P. that it just doesn't pay to go out to parties in Washington.

You meet some of the nicest people, but also some of the damndest people. Especially you meet people that you've taken the shirt off of, editorially speaking, the day before.

And if you're not awfully careful and awfully hard-boiled, you end up thinking that the people you've taken the shirt off of are not so bad after all.

The other day, for instance, I dropped in on a reception at the Cuban Embassy. I didn't know exactly what the reception was all about, but Louey Machado, the ambassador, is a great friend of the U. S. A., and I have been going around there ever since I used to cover news for El Mundo in Havana, and watched old Ambassador Orestes Ferrara practice dueling with the Italian ambassador on the slippery embassy floor.

On this occasion no sooner had I checked my hat and got upstairs to the receiving line than I got a faint perception of what the reception was all about.

In the receiving line was a long and glittering row of American brass with more stars on their shoulders than there are in the Milky Way, and more decorations on their bosoms than on a Christmas tree.

Waste Vs. Glitter

With a gulp I remembered that, on the radio the night before, I had blasted military waste from the Aleutian islands to the Pentagon and from Fort Huachuca, Arizona, to Morocco.

However, taking a hitch in my belt, I started down the line. The ambassador, an old friend, was easy to talk to. I noticed, however, that he seemed amused, and glancing up at the man along-side him, I readily understood why.

The next guest on the receiving line was Gen. "Lightnin' Joe" Collins, army chief of staff, who only the night before, I had told several million people, used four able-bodied GIs as personal servants. Lightnin' Joe grinned. I complied.

mented him on his youthful appearance and had no alternative but to continue down the glittering line.

Next was Rear Adm. Robert Lee Dennison, naval aide to President Truman. Just the night before I had told how the navy had accumulated enough anchors to last 50 years, plus 132,000 oyster forks, was hoarding machine tools and had spent $215,000,000 on 91 planes for "administrative purposes," which usually means rides for brass hats. However, the admiral looked quite cordial, possibly even amused at my discomfort. We shook hands and I continued down the receiving line.

Then Brig. Gen. Robert Landry, air force aide to the President. Just 24 hours before, I had told how the air force kept a pool of 82 planes for the purpose of taking generals and congressmen on special flights; also had ordered 300 machine lathes though it needed only eight. The general grinned. We shook hands.

General Vaughan Congratulated I was now somewhat like the fraternity initiate who faces a gleeful line of paddlers. Fore and aft of me was a gleeful line of generals and admirals. I couldn't retreat. I had to go forward.

Coming up next, right in front of me was Maj. Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's personal physician. "All those critical things I have written about his commodity speculation!" I moaned to myself. "And just last night I wrote another one about his intervention to keep Malaya, the famous Rumanian, in the United States."

Fortunately, General Graham, though able to read patients' symptoms, was not able to read my mind. He smiled. I smiled. We shook hands, and I passed down what seemed like the end-less line.

By this time my dazzled brain began to catch up with what was going on. Obviously I had not read the Spanish on my invitation carefully. The beautiful new ribbons and medals on the bosoms of the generals could mean only one thing. They had just been decorated by the Cuban government.

Just as I realized this, I glimpsed straight ahead, and right in my course—my old friend, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

A lot of memories flashed back in that split second before we met—my protest four years before when he accepted a decoration from Dictator Peron of Argentina. A rainy evening when I stood in front of the Argentine Embassy writing down the names of those who came to pay tribute to Vaughan and Peron at the medal-pinning ceremony. . . . A Senate investigation of Vaughan. . . . My testimony there. . . . Deep freezes. . . . The Tanforan race track.

Yet here was I at another embassy, with General Vaughan receiving another medal, and with me almost in front of him.

General Vaughan, who, after all, is celebrated for his humor, appreciated the humor of this occasion as I congratulated him on his new medal.

Likable Harry "After all," I said to myself, "a medal from democratic Cuba, one of the best friends of the U.S.A., is a lot different from a medal from a dictator who has kicked us all over Argentina."

Furthermore—and I would not dare admit this to anyone except my wife—I am afraid that if I Harry Vaughan a few more times even I would like him. So I guess I'd better not go out to parties any more.

Next I shook hands with my old friend Erle Coker, past commander of the American Legion, who also had a big, baby-blue Cuban ribbon round his neck—which brought me, still on my feet, to the end of that star-spangled line. "I wouldn't want to do it over again, but I'm glad I went," I remarked to Mrs. P. as we went home.

"It serves you right," was her somewhat unsympathetic comment. "You shouldn't be so mean to those military men. They deserve a few perquisites such as servants to help their wives cook."

"I fully realize," said I, as laughably as possible, "that I can get no sympathy from you. Your father, I seem to recall, was a general."

4,000 Bakers Strike

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Some 4,000 AFL specialty bakers struck against 350 Brooklyn bakeries last night, but a last-minute wage offer to 2,000 other specialty bakers averted a walkout in Manhattan. The 6,000 bakers and clerks, members of the AFL Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union, had demanded a $1 a day pay boost on present rates of $13 to $16 daily. Talks in Korea Seem Hinged Only on Desire Not to Get Blame for Quitting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1—The Far Eastern situation is getting worse every day. The prospects of a truce in Korea have about reached the vanishing point. Actually the purpose of both sides now is to keep the talks going indefinitely so that neither side can persuade the other for breaking them off.

So the proposals and counter-proposals go back and forth, and then some new formula or procedure for starting negotiations all over again on some other tack is introduced. All in all, there is no basic desire for agreement by the Chinese Communists, because Moscow is still angling for a surrender to her viewpoint by the West and for a world-wide "settlement" in which Korean peace can be traded for some other advantage to the Communists elsewhere.

Meanwhile, the situation in all of Asia grows very serious. There is a threat of more military operations and aggression in South-east Asia by the Chinese Communists. The Japanese people are restive. They are anxiously waiting for some clarification of their future relations with China—their natural trading area.

The British, on the other hand, are lukewarm in their attitude toward the Far East. The promises made by Prime Minister Churchill to take resolute action if the truce in Korea is broken have met with quibbling comments in London, where the "left wingers" still think the United States wants a large-scale war and that appeasement is a better course.

France is in difficulties over the Southeast Asia situation and the Communist bloc has helped to up-set the French government at home.

What then is there to do? American experts who have been studying the Far Eastern situation have been advising the government here to take a firm position so as to regain China. To do this, it is suggested that the Nationalist troops on Formosa must be allowed to go back to the mainland to fight and that the United States must not use the Seventh Fleet to prevent China's forces from invading the mainland if they wish to do so.

There is a revived interest in a naval blockade. It is known that materials of a strategic nature are getting into China and also into

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Frankfurt—Robert A. Lovett, our secretary of defense, is trying to reach some agreement with the French bureaucracy to comply with a congressional demand that none of our money spent for camps, barracks, airfields and so forth in the so-called line of communications extending from the "front" in Germany back to the Atlantic and Mediterranean French ports be paid into the French treasury as taxes. This is a very complex problem and the delays would be simply terrifying except for the reassuring presence of so many thousands of wives and kiddies up here in the zone of operations, if any, and the signs pointing to beauty shops and the counters laden with jelly beans and other delights.

It's not entirely the indomitable sedateness of the French bureaucracy which has been responsible for these delays. French contractors, who have charge of most of the work, have preserved methods used to build the pyramids and are proceeding faithfully according to these ancient practices. They and the French construction workers in congenial combination have not merely retarded but actually derided the train of progress. American contractors, American methods, and American civilian and military workers are barred. One trouble is that there is no pride left to shame the French when they are told that the Germans make them look like prehistoric slaves grubbing the earth with their fingers and carrying it out by hand.

Of course the fact that the army has already withdrawn some of its military stores to improvised or adapted hiding places in France should not be contrasted with the continuing presence of the tender army of camp followers who remain scattered along a string of centers right under the Russian guns, so to speak. I mention these two matters merely as unrelated quaint realities in the management of the project often called the cold war. American construction officers are more depressed by the delays than by the costs, which after all are the State Department's responsibility and up to the present have included about 25 per cent for taxes. These taxes exceed the amount that the French treasury is theoretically paying as its share of works which will be its property when done provided the Russians don't destroy or capture them, so actually France is getting a profit even after a book entry is made representing his costs.

Some German businessmen naturally derive a measure of amusement from this situation and re-new pleasantly sarcastic remarks that Americans would have been wiser to back a new Germany soon after Hitler's fall. True, we might never have got anything back except beer, canaries and harmonicas but we could have created a real army under a general staff comparable to the best in military history to stand off our late gallant allies of the Kremlin. And, after all, that is what we are pining for now. France, on the other hand, is politically incompetent and undependable.

The Morgenthau Plan never had fewer devotees among Americans than today. The Society for the Prevention of World War 3, which has an auxiliary gesture in New York called the anti-Nazi League, still makes gestures in favor of the Morgenthau program. In fact, one of its directors enjoyed a red carpet reception at Eisenhower's headquarters outside Paris only a few weeks ago, but this is only a statement of fact. I do not undertake to interpret Eisenhower's political hospitality, but if the explanation is that he doesn't know the politics of connections of his guests, his intelligence hasn't improved since Rundstedt rudely interrupted his merry yuletide by the Battle of the Bulge, where a routed enemy suddenly scraped together a desperate army and knocked him on his pants. Ike may be friendly to these fellow travelers. Anyway, the world has never seen such a ragtag and bobtail of cheap opportunists, Reds and kingmakers on any bandwagon since Willie's.

In his distress over allocation of one-quarter of our spending in French construction to the French government for taxes, Lovett can congratulate himself that the program of the A.F.L. and the C.I.O. under semi-official credentials from the State Department to corral all French workers into racks similar to their own back home, has laid an egg. Possibly the explanation is that when the agents of these rackets surveyed the possibilities in France, the heart went out of their work. The biggest French union, the Confed-

Q—What Christmas custom is attributed to St. Francis of Assisi?
A—St. Francis of Assisi in Italy, in the 13th century, gathered his friars around him in the humanization of the story of the Gospel and composed songs about the birth of Christ. These were sung around a crèche or tableau, showing the surroundings of the manger. Thus began the custom perpetuated in churches today.

Q—Why is a suet especially prized by birds in winter time?
A—It is one of the best of fuel-foods, to keep their small bodies warm against the cold to which they are always exposed, even on relatively good winter days.

TOWARD ACTION IN KOREA

The United States is taking steps to arrange for a special session of the United Nations General Assembly to discuss Korea if a truce agreement should be reached or if there should be some other important new development in the armistice talks. Presumably the official abandonment of the talks or another suspension of them, if either should occur, would supply sufficient reason for calling the special session.

In making this move our government thus indicates that it is not willing to go on indefinitely talking in circles in the Korea negotiations. High officials could be hopeful that the logjam may break and the talks move forward to a successful conclusion. Or they could be making ready for the opposite possibility that the tempers which have been wearing thin at Panmunjom may snap or that the U.N. negotiators may decide that the attempt at a truce is hopeless.

There have been many indications, over the past few years, that the Communists have not been doing any better at guessing what we are likely to do than we have been at foreseeing their actions. There is probably an even chance that they will guess wrongly as to what this move in the United Nations means about the durability of our patience in Korea. But if that is true then there is also an even chance that they will guess rightly, and conclude that the merry-go-round has been kept going around about long enough. Such a conclusion could help the situation.

FAMOUS NEW YORK NAME

A name once familiar in New York political history has reappeared. In the fight for delegates to the Republican National Convention, the Buffalo leader of Governor Thomas E. Dewey's forces is William L. Marcy.

An ancestor of the same name was one of the most eminent of all New Yorkers in the days of Andrew Jackson. Governor three times and senator, he was secretary of war under Polk and secretary of state under Pierce. In 1852 he had support for the presidential nomination in the deadlocked Democratic convention which nominated Pierce. The record of Pierce was such as to suggest that Marcy might have been a happier choice.

Marcy is best remembered for a remark on political patronage that has been summarized for all time as "To the victors belong the spoils." While these were not his precise words, they fairly expressed his views. They did not, however, give a true idea of the high principles which made him an ornament to New York's public life.

YEARS OF WAITING

A survey of the way people spend their time, made at the University of Wisconsin, produced the estimate that the average person who lives to the age of seventy will have spent three years of his life waiting. What does a person wait for? Some periods of waiting, such as the margin for error at the bus stop, are unavoidable, but by far the most of the waiting is done because other people are slow-moving or fail to be at a meeting place at the appointed time. If everyone would take pains not to keep someone else waiting needlessly, think of all the years which could be saved in the lives of people who live to be seventy.

New York's Rural Letter Carriers Association and the New York State Grange are among the groups seeking protection of the state's roads from heavy trucks through a reduction in the state's allowable truck loads. They recommend that New York lower its truck load limit per axle to 18,000 pounds to reduce the damage our roads suffer from the loads now permitted. New York currently permits truck loads as high as 22,400 pounds per axle.

The State Tax Commission reports that New York smokers reduced 41.5 billion cigarettes to ashes in 1951 and thereby established a new record for puffing and paying. The cigarette tax receipts in 1951 at three cents a pack aggregated $59,699,112. Of

ANOTHER ELEMENT OF DANGER

The Japanese Peace Treaty is, on the whole, a good treaty; yet, ratification should be slow. The treaty provides:

"All occupation forces of the Allied Powers shall be withdrawn from Japan as soon as possible after the coming into force of the present treaty, and in any case not later than 90 days thereafter. Nothing in this provision shall, however, prevent the stationing or retention of foreign armed forces in Japanese territory under or in consequence of any bilateral or multilateral agreements which have been or may be made between one or more of the Allied Powers, on the one hand, and Japan on the other."

Even though a "Security Treaty between the United States of America and Japan" has been negotiated, the fact remains that Soviet Russia is not a party to the San Francisco treaty and therefore is still at war with Japan. Should we step out of Japan, Russia could step in. Whatever measures we take to reduce our military establishment in no manner affects Russia's right to expand hers. Russia could even dump upon Japan the host of Japanese prisoners-of-war who have been retained by Russia for several years and who have been indoctrinated and prepared for the Communist revolution in Japan. Although the retention of these prisoners-of-war is a violation of the Potsdam agreement, the Russians have refused to release them or adequately report about them.

It is supposed to be a deep secret, but it is strongly reported that the Pentagon and the State Department are in disagreement on this subject, the military taking the position that it is dangerous to imperil our troops in Korea while the State Department feels that it is bound to press for ratification.

If the question is asked, what will be done if Russia takes advantage of our departure from Japan and sets herself up in that country as a conqueror, the answer is that that would be an act of war. Does that mean that we should then have to go to war with Soviet Russia to liberate Japan? It would be simpler to delay ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty, thus postponing our obligation to leave that country within 90 days after that event. We might postpone such ratification, at any rate, until the Korean War is over.

No Japanese official could afford to say that he would like ratification postponed. It would be admitting that without the physical presence in Japan of American troops, that country still stands in peril of imminent conquest by Soviet Russia. Japan has lived in that peril since the 1880's.

It is not altogether understandable why the State Department is in such a great hurry to obtain ratification from the United States Senate. Nothing immediate is to be gained; much danger may arise from such ratification. Delay could give Japan more time for reconstruction. Actually, a Japanese government is now in control of that country, and the Japanese political system is being restored. Why is it necessary to take chances while American troops are in Korea? Are those troops to be squeezed between the Russian-controlled forces in Manchuria and a revolutionary Japan? Surely, none of that can be right.

The general grinned. We shook hands.

General Vaughan Congratulated. I was now somewhat like the twelfth initiate who faces a gleeful line of paddlers. Fore and aft of me was a gleeful line of generals and admirals. I couldn't retreat. I had to go forward.

Coming up next, right in front of me, was Maj. Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's personal physician. "All those critical things I have written about his commodity speculation!" I moaned to myself. "And just last night I wrote another one about his intervention to keep Malaya, the famous Rumanian, in the United States."

Fortunately, General Graham, though able to read patients' symptoms, was not able to read my mind. He smiled. I smiled. We shook hands, and I passed down what seemed like the end-of-the-line.

By this time my dazzled brain began to catch up with what was going on. Obviously I had not read the Spanish on my invitation carefully. The beautiful new ribbons and medals on the bosoms of the generals could mean only one thing. They had just been decorated by the Cuban government.

Just as I realized this, I glimpsed straight ahead, and right in my course—my old friend, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

A lot of memories flashed back in that split second before we met—my protest four years before when he accepted a decoration from Dictator Peron of Argentina. A rainy evening when I stood in front of the Argentine Embassy writing down the names of those who came to pay tribute to Vaughan and Peron at the medal-pinning ceremony. . . . A Senate investigation of Vaughan. . . . My testimony there. . . . Deep freezes. . . . The Tanforan race track.

Yet here was I at another embassy, with General Vaughan receiving another medal, and with me almost in front of him.

General Vaughan, who, after all, is celebrated for his humor, appreciated the humor of this occasion as I congratulated him on his new medal.

Likable Harry. "After all," I said to myself, "a medal from democratic Cuba, one of the best friends of the U.S.A., is a lot different from a medal from a dictator who has kicked us all over Argentina."

Furthermore, and I would not dare admit this to anyone except my wife—I am afraid that if I met Harry Vaughan a few more times even I would like him. So I guess I'd better not go out to parties any more.

Next I shook hands with my old friend Erle Cooke, past commander of the American Legion, who had a big, baby-blue Cuban ribbon round his neck—which brought me, still on my feet, to the end of that star-spangled line.

"I wouldn't want to do it over again, but I'm glad I went," I remarked to Mrs. P. as we went home.

"It serves you right," was her somewhat unsympathetic comment. "You shouldn't be so mean to those military men. They deserve a few perquisites such as servants to help their wives cook."

"I fully realize," said I, as gently as possible, "that I can get no sympathy from you. Your father, I seem to recall, was a general."

Mrs. Sarah Charlton, 86, of Sawkill, died.

Miss Jean Jacqueline Canfield and Wayne Whipple, both of Kingston, were married.

4,000 Bakers Strike

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Some 4,000 AFL specialty bakers struck against 350 Brooklyn bakeries last night, but a last-minute wage offer to 2,000 other specialty bakers averted a walkout in Manhattan. The 6,000 bakers and clerks, members of the AFL Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union, had demanded a $1 a day pay boost on present rates of $13 to $16 daily. Last midnight marked expiration of a contract with the Metropolitan Bakers Guild, representing four large wholesale bakers, and the Specialty Bakers Owners Association, representing 350 small bakeries.

Talks in Korea Seem Hinged Only on Desire Not to Get Blame for Quitting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Far Eastern situation is getting worse every day. The prospects of a truce in Korea have about reached the vanishing point. Actually the purpose of both sides now is to keep the talks going indefinitely so that neither side can persuasively blame the other for breaking them off.

So the proposals and counter-proposals go back and forth, and some new formula or procedure for starting negotiations all over again on some other tack is introduced. All in all, there is no basic desire for agreement by the Chinese Communists, because Moscow is still angling for a surrender to her viewpoint by the West and for a world-wide "settlement" in which Korean peace can be traded for some other advantage to the Communists elsewhere.

Meanwhile, the situation in all of Asia grows very serious. There is a threat of more military operations and aggression in South-east Asia by the Chinese Communists. The Japanese people are restless. They are anxiously waiting for clarification of their future relations with China—their natural trading area.

The British, on the other hand, are lukewarm in their attitude toward the Far East. The promises made by Prime Minister Churchill to take resolute action if the truce in Korea is broken have met with quibbling comments in London, where the "left wingers" still think the United States wants a large-scale war and that appeasement is a better course.

France is in difficulties over the Southeast Asia situation and the Communist bloc has helped to upset the French government at home.

What then is there to do? American experts who have been studying the Far Eastern situation have been advising the government here to take a firm position so as to regain China. To do this, it is suggested that the Nationalist troops on Formosa must be allowed to go back to the mainland to fight and that the United States must not use the Seventh Fleet to prevent Chiang's forces from invading the mainland if they wish to do so.

There is a revived interest in a naval blockade. It is known that materials of a strategic nature are getting into China and also into Siberia through China. While American boys are dying in Korea, European merchants are trying to make money by sending supplies to China.

Recently it has been evident that the policy of the American Government was moving toward the firmer side. But with an election campaign in the offing, policy decisions of a firmer nature are not implemented by action, and there seems to be a vacillation which allows the whole situation to deteriorate from day to day.

With the loss of the mainland of China, Hong Kong can be taken away from the British any day.

The South Korean people, whose troops were expected to relieve our own, are worried about the prospect that the truce may make it possible for the North Korean Army again to swoop down some day and to overthrow all that the UN forces fought to prevent them from doing.

The morale of the South Korean people is rapidly diminishing as they see the allies wavering and vacillating.

The UN is an alliance in name only. Each of the major powers has its own ideas about what should be done in Asia and, so far as the Arab countries and India and many of the members of the British commonwealth are concerned, there is a definite move toward appeasement and even surrender.

This is a shocking state of affairs and very little of the truth gets to the American people. But there are many persons in our government and outside of it familiar with the Asiatic situation who are convinced that an air and sea blockade in the Far East along the China coast would divert and weaken the Communist effort in Korea and prevent an invasion of Indo-China.

But the government here, for reasons not too clear—while sympathizing with the objectives and especially the importance of doing something to save Asia, including Japan and Korea, from Communist infiltration—is reluctant to take positive measures. It looks like a crisis of some kind will have to force the issue, and the probabilities are that the Communists, who are well aware of the disunion among the allies as well as the political situation in the United States, will make the mistake of risking an open move of aggression this year—thus forcing an American decision. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Frankfurt—Robert A. Lovett, our secretary of defense, is trying to reach some agreement with the French bureaucracy to comply with a congressional demand that none of our money spent for camps, barracks, airfields and so forth in the so-called line of communications extending from the "front" in Germany back to the Atlantic and Mediterranean French ports be paid into the French treasury as taxes. This is a very complex problem and the delays would be simply terrifying except for the reassuring presence of so many thousands of wives and kiddies up here in the zone of operations, if any, and the signs pointing to beauty shops and the counters laden with jelly beans and lollipops for the warrior's delight in his hours of gentle relaxation.

It's not entirely the indomitable sedateness of the French bureaucracy which has been responsible for these delays. French contractors, who have charge of most of the work, have preserved methods used to build the pyramids and are proceeding faithfully according to these ancient practices. They and the French construction workers in congenial combination have not merely retarded but actually delayed the train of progress. American contractors, American methods, and American civilian and military workers are barred. One trouble is that there is no pride left to shame the French when they are told that the Germans make them look like prehistoric slaves grubbing the earth with their fingers and carrying it out by hand.

Of course, the fact that the army has already withdrawn some of its military stores to improvised or adapted hiding places in France should not be contrasted with the continuing presence of the tender army of camp followers who remain scattered along a string of centers right under the Russian guns, so to speak. I mention these two matters merely as unrelated quaint realities in the management of the project often called the cold war. American construction officers are more depressed by the delays than by the costs, which after all are the State Department's responsibility and up to the present have included about 25 per cent for taxes. These taxes exceed the amount that the French treasury is theoretically paying as its share of works which will be its property when done provided the Russians don't destroy or capture them, so actually France is getting a profit even after a book entry is made representing her costs.

Some German businessmen naturally derive a measure of amusement from this situation and renew pleasantly sarcastic remarks that Americans would have been wiser to back a new Germany soon after Hitler's fall. True, we might never have got anything back except beer, canaries and harmonicas but we could have created a real army under a general staff comparable to the best in military history to stand off our late gallant allies of the Kremlin. And after all, that is what we are pining for now. France, on the other hand, is politically incompetent and un dependable.

The Morgenthau Plan never had fewer devotees among Americans than today. The Society for the Prevention of World War 3, which has an auxiliary gestapo in New York called the anti-Nazi League, still makes gestures in favor of the Morgenthau program. In fact, one of its directors enjoyed a red carpet reception at Eisenhower's headquarters outside Paris only a few weeks ago, but this is only a statement of fact. I do not undertake to interpret Eisenhower's political hospitality, but if the explanation is that he doesn't know the political connections of his guests, his intelligence hasn't improved since Rundstedt rudely interrupted his merry yuletide by the Battle of the Bulge, where a routed enemy suddenly scraped together a desperate army and knocked him on his pants. Ike may be friendly with fellow travelers. Anyway, the world has never seen such a ragtag and bobtail of cheap opportunists, Reds and kingmakers on any bandwagon since Willie's.

In his distress over allocation of one-quarter of our spending in French construction to the French government for taxes, Lovett can congratulate himself that the program of the A.C.U. and the C.I.O. under semi-official credentials from the State Department to corral all French workers into rackets similar to their own back home, has laid an egg. Possibly the explanation is that when the agents of these rackets surveyed the possibilities in France the heart went out of their work. The biggest French union, the Confed-

Questions—Answers

Q—What Christmas custom is attributed to St. Francis of Assisi?

A—St. Francis of Assisi in Italy, in the 13th century, gathered his friars around him in the humanization of the story of the Gospel and composed songs about the birth of Christ. These were sung around a crèche or tableau, showing the surroundings of the manger. Thus began the custom perpetuated in churches today.

Q—Why is 'suet' especially prized by birds in winter time?

A—It is one of the best of fuel-foods, to keep their small bodies warm against the cold to which they are always exposed, even on relatively good winter days.

So They Say...

We cannot solve the problems of the world by becoming a militarized nation which seeks to win its way by force and intimidation. —John Foster Dulles.

No force on earth will be able to overthrow the Kremlin. It would be a ludicrous, preposterous attempt. —Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Minister.

You must not expect the Americans to solve our domestic problems for us. (No one) is going to keep the British lion as a pet. —Winston Churchill.

Do you have to buy a large diamond?

Many young men are surprised when they find that they do not have to buy a large diamond to get a brilliant one. Brilliance depends upon quality, not size. The fact is that a smaller diamond of truly fine quality will actually give you more brilliance than a larger diamond of inferior quality.

Women Hear Legal
Address Wednesday
An address on laws pertaining to women was given by Howard C. St. John, local attorney, at the regular supper meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the YWCA Wednesday evening.

In his talk, Mr. St. John dealt generally with laws enacted during the past 50 years to protect women and their property rights. He emphasized the importance of wills and cited numerous complications frequently arising when a person dies intestate.

At its next weekly meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 6, the supper will be followed by a social evening of cards and singing. Reservations for supper at 6 p. m. may be made by calling the YWCA no later than Monday, Feb. 4.

Heavy Career Defeats
Fair Sex Happiness

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
The woman who concentrates all her efforts on getting ahead in a career is likely to wind up at middle age lonely, dissatisfied, unhappy—and something of a phony.

So says Ernestine Gilbreth Carey, co-author of the two best-sellers, "Cheaper by the Dozen" and "Belles on Their Toes," who has just written her first novel, "Jumping Jupiter." Says she: "Sometimes I look out my kitchen window in Manhasset, Long Island, and see a smartly groomed career gal leap into her shiny roadster and zoom off to work. As I go back to my dish washing, I'm inclined to sigh 'Ah, that's the life!'"

Rate Race
"But then I stop and reassure myself thus: 'When she does get to her office she's going to be in a ratrace all day, and one day she's going to wake up and find that she's not as well-stocked as she used to be, and that marriage has passed her by.' While the gal who's a housewife is still going to have a big strong man to look after her and tell her she's beautiful, whether she is or not."

Mrs. Carey, daughter of the fabulous Lillian Gilbreth, who managed to run a successful career as an efficiency engineer with one hand and raise 12 children with the other, has played both the role of career gal and housewife, singly and together.

A department store buyer for 15 years, Mrs. Carey retired from her job after publication of the first book about the incredible Gilbreth family—but writing and lecturing keep her about as busy as before. Her new novel tells a sometimes hilarious story of the hectic life of a department store toy buyer and of "Jumping Jupiter," the galloping goat on which she rode to success. But she says:

Strong Character
"The politics of big business, the jockeying for position, the jealousies and the cutthroat competition among executives are not conducive to warm, human traits. Unless a woman has a strong character, built up from childhood, she's likely to become ruthless, insincere and something of a phony under such pressures."

Mrs. Carey is not one of those, however, who preach the inflexible doctrine that "woman's place is in the home." Says she: "A married woman with a family is in no danger of being engulfed by any job. She has so many other things to think about the job never gets too important. It's the unmarried girl who passes up every chance of normal happiness to get ahead in her career who stirs my sympathy."

Most Successful
"I think the most successful career women are those with a normal family life—and I hold no truck with those who claim that a smart woman can't hold down a job and run a household at the same time without slighting either."

Mrs. Carey has two children, Jill, 13, and Charles, 9. Both are normal, happy, well-adjusted youngsters who do not feel neglected because mom held down a full-time job for most of their lives, and now has a full-fledged career as a writer.

This successful career mother was raised in a family of 12 children by a mother who had to make a living for them after their father died.

"Parents who make things too easy for their children," she says, "are only building up trouble for themselves—and for the children."

This author has a rule of life taught her by her mother: "It is the duty of every woman, as well as every man, to make full use of every talent and ability she has."

INTRODUCTIONS IN PUBLIC PLACES

Whether or not to introduce is the subject of the following letter: "Not long ago I went to the theatre with my daughter-in-law. During intermission she chatted with several people she knew who sat nearby, but did not introduce me to them. I felt very uncomfortable sitting there with nothing to do but listen to their talk. I thought she should have introduced me and mentioned it afterward to her. She seemed surprised and quoted you as saying not to introduce in public places."

It is true that introductions should not be made in public places. But in a situation where the stranger is drawn into the conversation for more than a moment, she certainly should be introduced. This would have been especially true in your case if your daughter-in-law's friends sat directly in front or behind you so that you were as near to them as she. If they were over on her side and out of reach of you, then the omission would be understandable.

Who Pays Toll Charge?
Dear Mrs. Post: When out driving in the car of friends, who pays the toll when that question arises? Should the guest get out the money in advance and say, "I have it" or is this an insult to one's hosts?

Answer: Under ordinary circumstances, the car owner naturally pays. But under special circumstances such as when the guest has the exact change at hand, and the toll collector happens to be on his side, he may, on occasion, pay.

Not a Bedroom Wrapper
Dear Mrs. Post: In the all-coach trains, where one sleeps at night in the same seat one occupied by day, but is not separated from other people, may a woman change into a negligee or housecoat to keep her dress from looking slept in?

Answer: A negligee of the bedroom variety would not do at all, but to change into an inconspicuously colored housecoat, or slacks with jacket, would be suitable.

One reader asks, "What are essentials for my hope chest?" Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but a list of linens and personal trousseau things are included in leaflet E-5. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Monday Group Views
Family Circles Film

At its regular weekly meeting Monday evening, the Adult Education group were shown Family Circles, a motion picture film depicting the striking changes which have taken place during the years and contrasting the life of present and older generations. William Reardon, principal of School 3, presided as guest chairman.

Several phases of family life were included in the film, one of which dramatized the too busy parent as a great source of concern. This theme was later developed during the discussion period when it was said that it is vitally necessary to a child's well being to have the feeling of "belonging." In this regard, it was remarked that "the parent who is too busy to attend a parents tea or conference at the school in which both children and parents are participating, is contributing to the child's loss of prestige. Frequent repetitions of this kind throughout a child's early years of development may seriously affect him emotionally, socially and educationally."

Another thought contributed during the discussion was that "discerning parents recognize many emotions arousing problems as they occur and by maintaining wholesome, healthy attitudes, foster a closely knit family group and develop friendly, sympathetic relationships between their children, the schools and themselves."

During the latter part of the program, Mr. Reardon led the discussion. He described everyday encounters with children at school which illustrated an evident lack of security and affection in the home. Mr. Reardon stressed that material things are not of real basic importance to a child; but above all else, the child needs the genuine love of parents, accompanied by constant guidance.

Mr. Reardon concluded by reading Frederick Moffat's Thus a "Dear" was read and pointed out that home-school cooperation is essential to the growth and development of the child. "Mutual understanding, respect and confidence increase as people share in common problems and responsibilities," he said.

Dr. Ruth M. Northway, director of elementary education, presided as group chairman for the evening. She announced the schedule for three meetings of the group in February, which will bring to a close the successful series of meetings of the course on "The Child at Home and at School," sponsored by the Adult Education program.

Boy Scout News

Cub Pack 7
Cub Scout Pack 7 held its monthly meeting Monday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church on Albany avenue. Despite the bad weather a record attendance of 100 persons attended, including the scout executive, George Dennis.

The four dens participated in skits representing the theme of the month, Space. During the parents' meeting, while the cubs enjoyed the showing of motion picture films, plans were made for the annual Blue and Gold dinner to be held next month in the parish hall and plans completed for the cake sale to be held Friday at the J. J. Newberry Co. store on Wall street.

Cubs receiving awards were as follows:

Aaron Netburn to Wed

New York, Jan. 31 (Special to the Freeman)—A license to wed was obtained at the Municipal Building here today by Miss Betty Solomon of 968 Kelly Street, New York, and Aaron Netburn, formerly of Kingston, now at 43-08 49th Street, Long Island City, N. Y.

The couple said they would be married on February 10. Rabbi Lipitz will officiate.

Miss Solomon, who was born in New York, is the daughter of Philip and Etta Goldberg Solomon. Her prospective husband, the son of Joseph and Sara Friedman Netburn, was born in Kingston.

Lowest Price in 83 Years

In the face of rising prices and inflationary trends, the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company announces the immediate price reduction of Cashmere Bouquet soap, to sell at the lowest price in its 83 year history. This leading quality soap, with no change in size or ingredients, thus joins the price range of the popular priced toilet soaps.

Personal Notes

Miss Ann Marie Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Page, 105 Pearl street, a nursing student at Keuka College begins an eight week affiliation with the Biggs Memorial Hospital at Ithaca, for clinical training in tuberculosis.

A surprise stork shower for Mrs. Ernest Grafe of Bloomington was given Wednesday evening by Miss Betty Williams of 136 Clifton avenue.

Blue, white and pink streamers were used for decorating and the gifts were placed in a blue bathnet.

The guests included the Misses Dorothy Pedersen, Adeline DeCicco, Bernice Pfeiffer, Cynthia Steketee, Virginia Rittton, Ruth Fredericks, and Betty Williams, and the Mmes. William Hannebecker, William Williams, Charles Markle and Leslie Ewery.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard V. Everett of 59 Lafayette avenue are celebrating their 41st wedding anniversary today.

Mr. Everett is a retired New York Central Railroad employe, having been associated with that company as a telegrapher for 42 years.

Robert Gerard Straley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Straley, 60 Drenbacher street, has been named to the Dean's list at the University of Notre Dame.

Straley is majoring in geology and has maintained a scholastic average of 89.85. Although a grade of 85 per cent constitutes cum laude honors at Notre Dame, a student in the College of Science, in order to earn rating on the Dean's list must maintain an average of at least 87 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bloom with their daughter, Margery Rose, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Seigel of 61 West O'Reilly street.

Larry Bloom's orchestra will play for the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary annual ball Saturday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Styles of Woodstock, were surprised in their Ohayo Mountain home Thursday evening when many friends arrived to honor them on the occasion of their tenth wedding anniversary.

A turkey dinner was served. Participating in the surprise party for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Costa, Woodstock and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Augustine, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bockelman, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawler and Miss Ann Perry of Kingston.

Card Parties

St. Peter's Mothers Guild
The Mothers Guild of St. Peter's Church will hold a card party at the school hall on Adams street, Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 8:15 p. m. Players are requested to bring their own cards. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

The proceeds from this affair will be used to continue the activities of the Guild for the benefit of the school children.

Heavy Career Defeats
Fair Sex Happiness

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

The woman who concentrates all her efforts on getting ahead in a career is likely to wind up at middle age lonely, dissatisfied, unhappy—and something of a phony.

So says Ernestine Gilbreth Carey, co-author of the two best-sellers, "Cheaper by the Dozen" and "Belles on Their Toes," who has just written her first novel, "Jumping Jupiter." Says she:

"Sometimes I look out my kitchen window in Manhasset, Long Island, and see a smartly groomed career gal leap into her shiny roadster and zoom off to work. As I go back to my dish washing, I'm inclined to sigh 'Ah, that's the life!'"

Ratrace

"But then I stop and reassure myself thus: 'When she does get to her office she's going to be in a ratrace all day, and one day she's going to wake up and find that she's not as well-stacked as she used to be, and that marriage has passed her by. While the gal's a housewife is still going to have a big strong man to look after her and tell her she's beautiful, whether she is or not.'"

Mrs. Carey, daughter of the fabulous Lillian Gilbreth, who managed to run a successful career as an efficiency engineer with one hand and raise 12 children with the other, has played both the role of career gal and housewife, singly and together.

A department store buyer for 15 years, Mrs. Carey retired from her job after publication of the first book about the incredible Gilbreth family—but writing and lecturing kept her about as busy as before.

Her new novel tells a somewhat hilarious story of the hectic life of a department store toy buyer and of "Jumping Jupiter," the galloping goat on which she rode to success. But she says:

"The politics of big business, the jockeying for position, the jealousies and the cutthroat competition among executives are not conducive to warm, human traits. Unless a woman has a strong character, built up from childhood, she's likely to become ruthless, insincere and something of a phony under such pressures."

Mrs. Carey is not one of those, however, who preach the inflexible doctrine that "woman's place is in the home." Says she:

"A married woman with a family is in no danger of being engulfed by any job. She has so many other things to think about the job never gets too important. It's the unmarried girl who passes up every chance of normal happiness to get ahead in her career who stirs my sympathy."

Most Successful
"I think the most successful career women are those with a normal family life—and I hold no truck with those who claim that a smart woman can't hold down a job and run a household at the same time without slighting either."

Mrs. Carey has two children, Jill, 13, and Charles, 9. Both are normal, happy, well-adjusted youngsters who do not feel neglected because mom held down a full-time job for most of their lives, and now has a full-fledged career as a writer.

This successful career mother was raised in a family of 12 children by a mother who had to make a living for them after their father died.

"Parents who make things too easy for their children," she says, "are only building up trouble for themselves—and for the children."

This author has a rule of life taught her by her mother: "It is the duty of every woman, as well as every man, to make full use of every talent and ability she has."

Women Hear Legal
Address Wednesday

An address on laws pertaining to women was given by Howard C. St. John, local attorney, at the regular supper meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the YWCA Wednesday evening.

In his talk, Mr. St. John dealt generally with laws enacted during the past 50 years to protect women and their property rights. He emphasized the importance of wills and cited numerous complications frequently arising when a person dies intestate.

At its next weekly meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 6, the supper will be followed by a social evening of cards and singing. Reservations for supper at 6 p. m. may be made by calling the YWCA no later than Monday, Feb. 4.

INTRODUCTIONS IN PUBLIC PLACES

Whether or not to introduce is the subject of the following letter: "Not long ago I went to the theatre with my daughter-in-law. During intermission she chatted with several people she knew who sat nearby, but did not introduce me to them. I felt very uncomfortable sitting there with nothing to do but listen to their talk. I thought she should have introduced me and mentioned it afterward to her. She seemed surprised and quoted you as saying not to introduce in public places."

It is true that introductions should not be made in public needlessly. But in a situation where the stranger is drawn into the conversation for more than a moment, she certainly should be introduced. This would have been especially true in your case if your daughter-in-law's friends sat directly in front or behind you so that you were near to them as she. If they were over on her side and out of reach of you, then the omission would be understandable.

Who Pays Toll Charge?
Dear Mrs. Post: When out driving in the car of friends, who pays the toll when that question arises? Should the guest get out the money in advance and say, "I have it" or is this an insult to one's hosts?

Answer: Under ordinary circumstances, the car owner naturally pays. But under special circumstances such as when the guest has the exact change at hand, and the toll collector happens to be on his side, he may, on occasion, pay.

Not a Bedroom Wrapper
Dear Mrs. Post: In the all-coach trains, where one sleeps at night in the same seat one occupied by day, but is not separated from other people, may a woman change into a negligee or housecoat to slip her dress from looking slept in?

Answer: A negligee of the bedroom variety would not do at all, but to change into an inconspicuously colored housecoat, or slacks with jacket, would be suitable.

One reader asks, "What are the essentials for my hope chest?" Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot give a personal mail, but a list of linens and personal trousseau things are included in leaflet E-5. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Monday Group Views
Family Circles Film

At its regular weekly meeting Monday evening, the Adult Education group were shown Family Circles, a motion picture film depicting the striking changes which have taken place during the years and contrasting the life of present and older generations.

William Reardon, principal of School 3, presided as guest chairman.

Several phases of family life were included in the film, one of which dramatized the too busy parent as a great source of concern. This theme was later developed during the discussion period when it was said that it is vitally necessary to a child's well being to have the feeling of "belonging."

In this regard, it was remarked that "the parent who is too busy to attend a parents tea or conference at the school in which both children and parents are participating, is contributing to the child's loss of prestige. Frequent repetitions of this kind throughout a child's early years of development may seriously affect him emotionally, socially and educationally."

Another thought contributed during the discussion was that "discerning parents recognize many emotions arousing problems as they occur and by maintaining wholesome, healthy attitudes, foster a closely knit family group and develop friendly, sympathetic relationships between their children, the schools and themselves."

During the latter part of the program, Mr. Reardon led the discussion. He described everyday encounters with children at school which illustrated an evident lack of security and affection in the home. Mr. Reardon stressed that material things are not of real basic importance to a child; but above all else, the child needs the genuine love of parents, accompanied by constant guidance.

Mr. Reardon concluded by reading Frederick Moffat's "Thus a Child Learns," and pointed out that home-school cooperation is essential to the growth and development of the child. "Mutual understanding, respect and confidence increase as people share in common problems and responsibilities," he said.

Dr. Ruth M. Northway, director of elementary education, presided as group chairman for the schedule for three meetings of the group in February, which will bring to a close the successful series of meetings of the course on The Child at Home and at School, sponsored by the Adult Education program.

Optometrists Are Opposed to Bill

"A mortal blow at blindness prevention programs in this state is being aimed at in the state legislature by certain manufacturers of ready made eyeglasses who apparently have a dollar marked blind spot for the visual welfare of the public," it was charged today by S. Rudisch, president of the Hudson Valley Optometric Association and member of the Board of Directors of the New York State Optometric Association, at a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday.

Rudisch, in a conference with local optometric society members, disclosed that the Nedd-Brady bill which proposes to repeal protective legislation so as to permit the unregulated sale of ready made reading glasses, was introduced in the State Senate January 23rd. He denounced the bill as "an open invitation to blindness."

LITTLE LIZ

One of the things wrong with the world is that people judge a man by how much he makes instead of how he makes it.

"The present law," he explained, "regulates the indiscriminate sale by requiring the presence of a physician or optometrist at the place of sale. This law was passed in 1928 after groups, similar to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness presented evidence that such a provision would tend to reduce the incidence of blindness."

"The unguided selection," he stated, "of a pair of ready made glasses by a person with a diseased eye condition such as cataract or glaucoma, would deceive him as to the existence or nature of his true condition. The legislation which it enacted the present law wanted to protect the public in this respect. The fact that many glaucoma sufferers have been known to seek relief in ready made glasses, rather than in professional care, is one of the reasons why the present law was passed. To preserve the public health and peace of mind the Nedd-Brady Bill should be defeated."

Other local members at the Hudson Valley Optometric Society meeting which had representatives from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie were Harry LeFever Jr., David Klein.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 1 — Last week you read that 85 people have been killed in airplane accidents during the preceding 38 days in Elizabeth, New Jersey, and yet nothing is being done about it. I believe it is a crime against the American people for the airplane companies not to do more to prevent such accidents. It is true that they can insure their planes so as to get a new one when a plane is destroyed, but no insurance can replace lives which they destroy. In my humble judgment, their attitude is all wrong.

Cause of Accidents
A few airplane accidents occur from running into mountains during fog or storm. These are being eliminated by the latest modern altitude instruments and by radar. With good working instruments and bright-eyed pilots this accident should no longer occur.

The Major Cause
The major cause of airplane accidents is their engine trouble or wing failure or some other breakdown which causes the airplane to drop to the ground and the gas tanks to explode. This throws the gasoline all over the occupants. Some electric spark starts the fire and the passengers are all smothered or burned to death. In short, "Old Man Gravity" is responsible.

Your Home May Be Destroyed
This means that these fatal accidents will continue and increase in number and severity as more planes fly and the size of the planes increases. When the airplane companies advertise they have the biggest planes, they do not tell you that the bigger the plane the more dangerous it will be for all concerned when it falls. Moreover, many believe that the bigger planes are more liable to fall.

It is not only those who travel in planes who are running the increasing risk as bigger planes are built. Big Paychecks Dwindle
London, Feb. 1 (AP) — The thin ranks of Britain's much-sought earners of big paychecks have been weeded again. The inland revenue commissioners reported last night only 60 persons had incomes of 6,000 pounds ($16,800) or more after they had paid income taxes for the year that ended in March, 1950. The year before there had been 86 members of this dwindling elite corps. And the little guys still paid most of the taxes. Revenue officials said most of the money collected came from 9,290,000 people earning between five and 10 pounds ($14 to $28) a week.

Scientists discovered gargantuan rats three feet long and kangaroos that climb trees in Dutch New Guinea.

Applications Are Available Here For Amateur Quest

Application blanks for the Ulster county amateur talent quest are now available at the office of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. Final plans for the preliminary contests, early in March, will depend on the number of application blanks received.

In making this announcement today, Howard C. St. John, chairman of the committee in charge, requested that applications be obtained and returned at the earliest possible date. This will help materially in making the necessary plans.

The purpose of the Ulster county amateur talent quest is to give all talented persons, regardless of age, an opportunity to appear in the final auditions before the staff of Ted Mack's original amateur hour at the municipal auditorium in Kingston on April 2nd. Those who qualify will be invited to appear on the national radio and television network shows of the original amateur hour sponsored by Old Gold Cigarettes.

Preliminary contests will be held in several places throughout Ulster county. Definite plans are already underway in Ellenville and contests are being considered in Highland, New Paltz, Saugerties, and Woodstock. Each preliminary contest will or should be sponsored by some local group. A minimum of five acts or numbers from each will qualify to appear in the final auditions on April 2nd. The final number selected from each preliminary will depend upon how many are ultimately held. Numerous details of the Ulster county talent quest, sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, were arranged at a recent conference of the Kingston Committee and other community representatives.

Any persons interested in any part of Ulster county may secure application blanks for the preliminary contests from the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. The application will in turn be transferred to the contest nearest the home of the applicant. In the Ellenville area, full information may be obtained from Reuben Benson at the office of the Ellenville Electric Company. In Highland, William M. Gruner is chairman of the contest committee for the American Legion. In New Paltz, Lee Keator is chairman of a Fire Department Committee considering a preliminary contest there. As soon as arrangements have been completed for any of the preliminary contests, applications to appear may be obtained from the local committee.

In making this announcement today, Chairman St. John stated that he expects several hundred

Optometrists Are Opposed to Bill

"A mortal blow at blindness prevention programs in this state is being aimed at in the state legislature by certain manufacturers of ready made eyeglasses who apparently have a dollar marked blind spot for the visual welfare of the public," it was charged today by S. Rudisch, president of the Hudson Valley Optometric Association and member of the Board of Directors of the New York State Optometric Association, at a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday.

Rudisch, in a conference with local optometric society members, disclosed that the Neddo-Brady bill which proposes to repeal protective legislation so as to permit the unregulated sale of ready made reading glasses, was introduced in the State Senate January 23rd. He denounced the bill as "an open invitation to blindness."

"The present law," he explained, "regulates the indiscriminate sale by requiring the presence of a physician or optometrist at the place of sale. This law was passed in 1928 after groups, similar to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness presented evidence that such a provision would tend to reduce the incidence of blindness."

"The unguided selection," he stated, "of a pair of ready made glasses by a person with a diseased eye condition such as cataract or glaucoma, would deceive him as to the existence or nature of his true condition. The legislature when it enacted this law wanted to protect the public in this respect. The fact that many glaucoma sufferers have been known to seek relief in ready made glasses, rather than in professional care, is one of the reasons why the present law was passed. To preserve the public health and peace of mind the Neddo-Brady Bill should be defeated."

Other local members at the Hudson Valley Optometric Society meeting which had representatives from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie were Harry LeFever Jr., David Klein.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 1 — Last week you read that 85 people have been killed in airplane accidents during the preceding 38 days in Elizabeth, New Jersey, and yet nothing is being done about it. I believe it is a crime against the American people for the airplane companies not to do more to prevent such accidents. It is true that they can insure their planes so as to get a new one when a plane is destroyed, but no insurance can replace lives which they destroy. In my humble judgment, their attitude is all wrong.

Cause of Accidents
A few airplane accidents occur from running into mountains during fog or storm. These are being eliminated by the latest modern altitude instruments and by radar. With good working instruments and bright-eyed pilots these accidents should no longer occur.

The major cause of airplane accidents is their engine trouble or wing failure or some other breakdown which causes the airplane to drop to the ground and the gas tanks to explode. This throws the gasoline all over the occupants. Some electric spark starts the fire and the passengers are all smothered or burned to death. In short, "Old Man Gravity" is responsible.

Your Home May Be Destroyed
This means that these fatal accidents will continue and increase in number and severity as more planes fly and the size of the planes increases. When the airplane companies advertise they have the biggest planes, they do not tell you that the bigger the plane the more dangerous it will be for all concerned when it falls. Moreover, many believe that the bigger planes are more liable to fall.

It is not only those who travel in planes who are running the increasing risk as bigger planes are built. Cramer and Guldenstern Lead Weishaupt and Schrowang by 100 Pins

Cohoes Ace Averages 245 for Five Games

Morris Cramer, a human strike machine out of Cohoes, rolled a sensational 245 average for five games as he teamed with Bill Guldenstern of Catskill to gain a 100-pin edge over Kingston's Larry Weishaupt and Joe Schrowang in the first block of their 10-game $200 doubles match last night at the Bowldrome.

Cramer, one of New York state's greatest young bowling prospects, treated a jam-packed house to one of the finest exhibitions of pocket busting ever seen in this town.

He reeled off scores of 212, 266, 233, 266 and 248 for a 1225 total. His first three games added up to 711 and the last three to 747. Cramer's scoresheet showed only three open frames in the 50 rolled, a pair of misses and a split.

Larry Weishaupt pounded 728 in the first three games and averaged 228 for the route on solos of 222, 258, 248, 189 and 223.

KHSPlays Monties

Kingston High continues its quest for second place in the DUSO Basketball League when it invades Monticello tonight to meet the last place Monties.

One of the unpredictables in the conference, the Monties pose a definite threat to the Maroons despite their lowly standing.

In other DUSO games, Liberty visits the Fallsburg Comets; Port Jervis skyscrapers are at Newburgh and Poughkeepsie is host to Beacon.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

A SINGLE HUNTER HUNTING BOBCATS

A BOBCAT'S TRACK IS SIMILAR TO A HOUSE CAT'S BUT LARGER. IN WALKING, A CAT'S CLAWS ARE WITHDRAWN SO THEY DON'T APPEAR IN THE TRACK.

THE WOODS-WISE HUNTER WHO FOLLOWS A COLD TRACK WITH A SLOW, QUIET HOUND ON A LEASH BEFORE HIM MAY OVERSEE THE CAT WHO IS BEHIND FOR THE DAY BY SNEAKING UP ON HIM, INTENTLY WATCHING AHEAD, THE HUNTER MAY GET A SHOT AS THE CAT LEAVES ITS BED, A SHOTGUN FIRING BB'S OR NUMBER 2 SHOT IS THE BEST FOR SUCH HUNTING. START EARLY AND PREPARED FOR A LONG HIKE.

Wallace vs. Wilson

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Heavyweight Coley Wallace of New York and Aaron Wilson of Birmingham, are expected to stage another thriller tonight when they clash in the main ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. The bout, starting at 10 p. m. (EST), is rated an even money affair. It will be broadcast and telecast.

Rienzo, Hinkley and Bower High Scorers In YMCA 'B' Games with 28, 29 and 27

Economy Construction, Kaplan Bag Co. and 156th FA scored easy victories in the "B" division of the YMCA League, with Kaplan's 64-39 triumph over the Esopus Firemen the stunner of the year.

An oddity of the victory was Bob Baumer's 13 foul conversions in 16 tries. He wound up with 17 points and Tony Hickey set the pace with 20. Jim Ferraro's 14 led the Firemen.

Kaplan's pulled with a 14-2 bulge in the second period after leading 12-10 at the half. They dominated play in the second half, scoring 19 points in each of the last two periods.

Rienzo Hits 28

Chris Rienzo hit 28 points and Frank Fiore had 22 as Economy Construction rolled over Accord Cheviots, 90-46, running up a 45-point second half, while stalling the Cheviots with only 15. Bob Perry hit with 11 for the winners.

Wally Nickolonis rimmed 18 and Milford Ebert had 12 for the Cheviots.

Jack Graney and Jack Schrader accounted for 23 SA points as the winners led 24-7 at the half. Mc-Spirit and Gordon hit five each for the ICs and Dick Bezmer and Phil Mandel added nine apiece to the SA total.

Harry Heilmann and Paul Waner Named To Hall of Fame; Diz, Terry Lose Out

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—For the second straight year power has overshadowed pitching prowess in selections for baseball's Hall of Fame.

The nation's baseball writers reached into each of the major leagues today for the latest additions to the Shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y. They honored the late Harry Heilmann, a great right-handed hitter for Detroit in the '20s, and Paul (Big Poison) Waner, who came along a decade later to belt out base-hits for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Two sluggers—Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics—were last year's nominees and no one was picked in 1950.

The last pitcher to reach the Hall of Fame was Mordecai (Three-Finger) Brown, picked in 1949.

However, if this year's voting is a barometer of things to come, one of the pitching stars of the modern era probably will be honored in the near future.

That is Dizzy Dean, iron-winged right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals in the pre-World War 2 days, who was one of the four highest men in the balloting.

A total of 234 votes were cast, with 75 per cent—176—needed for election. Heilmann with 203 and Waner with 195 got in easily.

Next in line were Bill Terry, former first baseman and manager of the New York Giants, and the fabulous Dean. Terry received 135 votes, Dean 152.

Tom Carlino Pounds 287 and 690 To Lead Ferraro's Major League

The brave pronouncements by Albert E. Houghton and John Halpin, president and PRO respectively of the Can-Am League, that the Class C circuit is "hopeful" of returning to the organized baseball family in 1953, are not justified by the facts of life as they now pertain to minor league ball.

As plausible as is the Can-Am's hope, it is regrettable that television and sportscasting are here to stay. And they are tremendously big business.

In his recommendation to the Can-Am directors that the league cease operations in 1952, Houghton blamed the lack of attendance on the impact of television.

"Everybody's got the television craze and want to stay home and see TV instead of going to a ball game," Houghton's statement drops the faint suspicion that he expects the TV situation to improve by 1953. A decision to resume play in 1953, said Halpin, would depend on:

1. Whether the TV craze had worn off by that time.

2. Whether the major leagues took some steps to prevent radio stations from broadcasting big league ball in the home areas of Can-Am members.

Let's examine the prospects for such developments.

As Bob Considine pointed out in his Sunday column, the last World Series attracted more money from Gillette than it did at the gate. TV rights to the next Rose Bowl game will be better than $500,000.

The inroads TV has made into sports—or rather, TV and radio—have been lost sight of by people who still want to see sports events in person, Considine continued. Last year the major baseball leagues alone had a total income of $4,562,312 from radio and TV. That's almost as much money as the National League drew in its biggest pre-war year, 1940.

There must be earnest soul-searching among major league directors before they would bend to the minors' demands for restricted radio and TV; soul-searching which must tempt them to lean more and more heavily upon what they can make out of TV—and to heck with the good old days when they sold their muscle show to individual ticket buyers, not to the man from the brewery or the cigaret fellow.

That is the modern philosophy in sports promotion and minor league baseball, especially in the lower echelons of D, C and B, are the most susceptible victims. Minor league promoters who refuse to accept the handwriting on the wall are merely whistling past the graveyard to coin a couple of deathless phrases.

The Can-Am League, robbed of its Canadian bastions of Quebec and Three Rivers and the lucrative draw of Schenectady—has suffered an astonishing decline in patronage since its peak year of 1948 when it set an all-time high of 763,343 paid admissions. In 1947 it was 692,309. There was a slump of some 5600 in 1949 to around 697,000 and in 1950 the gross was 453,132.

The 1951 total paid attendance (unofficial) shows an alarming slump to a meagre 180,382. Kingston, which made no distinguished contribution to the perpetuation of the Can-Am, trailed in last place with 16,961. This was nearly a 100 per cent tail-off from the 29,231 who attended the Class B Colonial League games in 1949.

No attendance figures are available for the 1950 season since the Colonial League folded on July 14 and the gross attendance for the circuit was estimated at 80,000.

Unofficial attendance figures for the Can-Am League in 1951 were: Pittsfield, 39,820; Gloversville, 36,807; Oneonta, 32,503; Amsterdam, 30,837; Rome, 23,454; Kingston, 16,961. Oneonta expressed a desire to resume operations in 1952, nobody else even dreamed about it. Gloversville was not even represented at the final conclave last Saturday and Pittsfield, which led the circuit, sent a sportswriter-sports-holder as its official emissary.

Up to 1949, the Can-Am League enjoyed 13 years of distinction and prestige as one of the stoutest links in the minor league baseball chain. It was the kind of league Kingston should have been in from the start. It is overwhelmingly to our discredit that when the opportunity came we made of it a complete shambles. But, by that time, we, too, were engulfed by a trend.

Maybe the situation will improve by 1953, but of this you can be sure . . . TV and radio will still be around.

Cramer and Guldenstern Lead Weishaupt and Schrowang by 100 Pins

Cohoes Ace Averages 245 for Five Games

Morris Cramer, a human strike machine out of Cohoes, rolled a sensational 245 average for five games as he teamed with Bill Guldenstern of Catskill to gain a 100-pin edge over Kingston's Larry Weishaupt and Joe Schrowang in the first block of their 10-game $200 doubles match last night at the Bowlodrome.

Cramer, one of New York state's greatest young bowling prospects, treated a jam-packed house to one of the finest exhibitions of pocket busting ever seen in this town.

He reeled off scores of 212, 266, 233, 266 and 248 for a 1225 total. His first three games added up to 711 and the last three to 747. Cramer's score sheet showed only three open frames in the 50 rolled, a pair of misses and a split.

Larry Weishaupt pounded 728 in the first three games and averaged 228 for the route on solos of 222, 258, 248 189 and 223.

Rienzo, Hinkley and Bower High Scorers In YMCA 'B' Games with 28, 29 and 27

Economy Construction, Kaplan Bag Co. and 156th FA scored easy victories in the "B" division of the YMCA League, with Kaplan's 64-39 triumph over the Esopus Firemen the stunner of the year.

An oddity of the victory was Bob Baumer's 13 foul conversions in 16 tries. He wound up with 17 points and Tony Hickey set the pace with 20. Jim Ferraro's 14 led the Firemen.

Kaplan's pulled with a 14-2 bulge in the second period after leading 12-10 at the half. They dominated play in the second half, scoring 19 points in each of the last two periods.

Rienzo hit 28 points and Frank Fiore had 22 as Economy Construction rolled over Accord Cheviots, 90-46, running up a 45-point second half, while stalling the Cheviots with only 15. Bob Perry hit with 11 for the winners. Vally Nickolonis rimmed 18 and Milford Ebert had 12 for the Cheviots.

Bruce "Red" Hinkley, KHS All-DUSO football center, proved his versatility by pouring in 29 points in the 156th FA's 64-48 victory over Elston Sports. The Artillerymen rolled up 26 points in the stretch period and Elstons hit for 23.

Jay Rider hit 18 and Huyler Van Wageningen 13 for the winners. Bucky Bower's 27 paced the losers and Bill Craft furnished 11.

Harry Heilmann and Paul Waner Named To Hall of Fame; Diz, Terry Lose Out

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—For the second straight year power has overshadowed pitching prowess in selections for baseball's Hall of Fame.

The nation's baseball writers reached into each of the major leagues today for the latest additions to the Shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y. They honored the late Harry Heilmann, a great right-handed hitter for Detroit in the '20s, and Paul (Big Poison) Waner, who came along a decade later to belt out base-hits for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Two sluggers—Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics—were last year's nominees and no one was picked in 1950.

The last pitcher to reach the Hall of Fame was Mordecai (Three-Finger) Brown, picked in 1949.

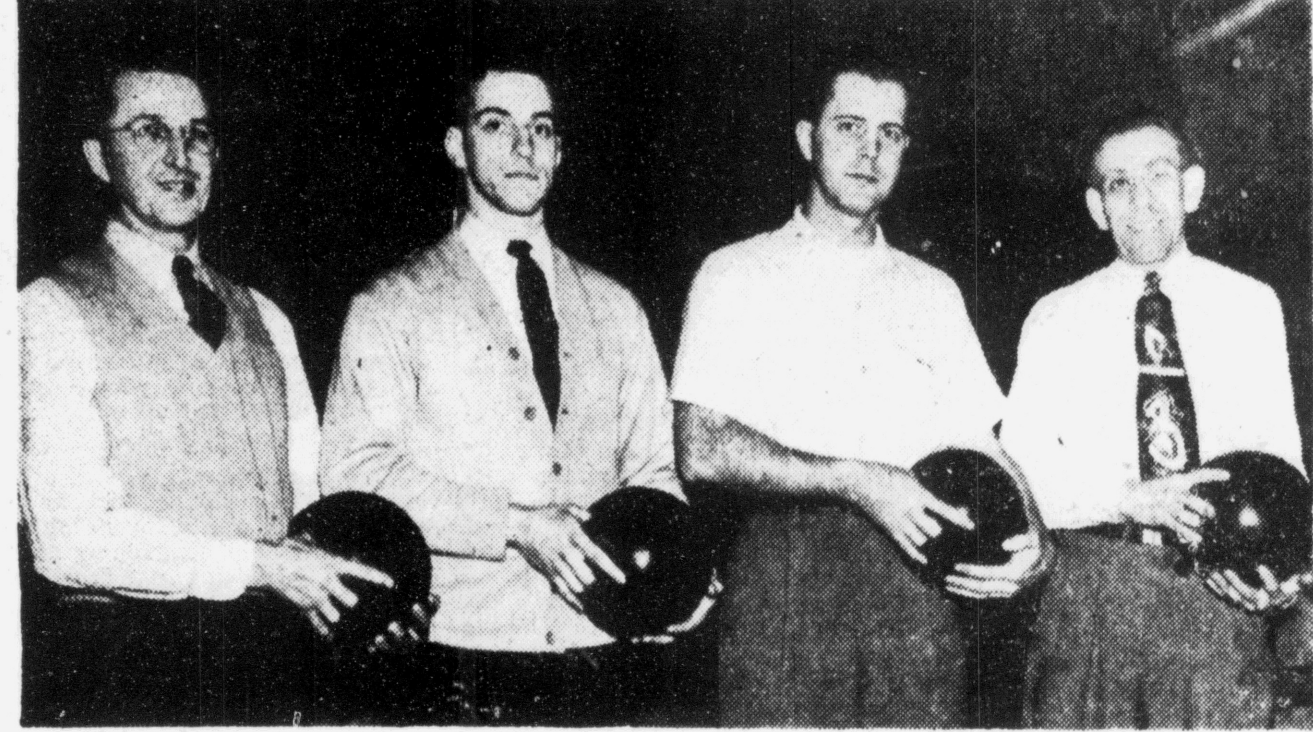

However, if this year's voting is a barometer of things to come, one of the pitching stars of the modern era probably will be honored in the near future.

That is Dizzy Dean, iron-winged right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals in the pre-World War 2 days, who was one of the four highest men in the balloting.

Tom Carlino Pounds 287 and 690 To Lead Ferraro's Major League

As plausible as is the Can-Am's hope, it is regrettable that television and sportscasting are here to stay. And they are tremendously big business.

In his recommendation to the Can-Am directors that the league cease operations in 1953, Houghton blamed the lack of attendance on the impact of television.

"Everybody's got the television craze and want to stay home and see TV instead of going to a ball game," Houghton's statement drops the faint suspicion that he expects the TV situation to improve by 1953. A decision to resume play in 1953, said Halpin, would depend on:

1. Whether the TV craze had worn off by that time.
2. Whether the major leagues took some steps to prevent radio stations from broadcasting big league ball in the home areas of Can-Am members.

Let's examine the prospects for such developments.

As Bob Considine pointed out in his Sunday column, the last World Series attracted more money from Gillette than it did at the gate. TV rights to the next Rose Bowl game will be better than $500,000.

The inroads TV has made into sports—or rather, TV and radio—have been lost sight of by people who still want to see sports events in person. Considine continued. Last year the major baseball leagues alone had a total income of $4,562,313 from radio and TV. That's almost as much money as the National League drew in its biggest pre-war year, 1940.

That is the modern philosophy in sports promotion and minor league baseball, especially in the lower echelons of D, C and B, are the most susceptible victims. Minor league promoters who refuse to accept the handwriting on the wall are merely whistling past the graveyard to coin a couple of deathless phrases.

The Can-Am League, robbed of its Canadian bastions of Quebec and Three Rivers and the lucrative draw of Schenectady—has suffered an astonishing decline in patronage since its peak year of 1948 when it set an all-time high of 703,243 paid admissions. In 1947 it was 692,309. There was a slump of some 5600 in 1949 to around 697,000 and in 1950 the gross was 453,132.

The 1951 total paid attendance (unofficial) shows an alarming slump to a meagre 180,382. Kingston, which made no distinguished contribution to the perpetuation of the Can-Am, trailed in last place with 16,961. This was nearly a 100 per cent tail-off from the 29,231 who attended the Class B Colonial League games in 1949. No attendance figures are available for the 1950 season since the Colonial League folded on July 14 and the gross attendance for the circuit was estimated at 80,000.

Unofficial attendance figures for the Can-Am League in 1951 were: Pittsfield, 39,820; Gloversville, 36,807; Oneonta, 32,503; Amsterdam, 30,837; Rome, 23,454; Kingston, 16,961. Oneonta expressed a desire to resume operations in 1952, nobody else even dreamed about it. Gloversville was not even represented at the final conclusion last Saturday and Pittsfield, which led the circuit, sent a sportswriter-stockholder as its official emissary.

Up to 1949, the Can-Am League enjoyed 13 years of distinction and prestige as one of the stoutest links in the minor league baseball chain. It was the kind of league Kingston should have been in from the start. It is everlastingly to our discredit that when the opportunity came we made of it a complete shambles. But, by that time, we, too, were engulfed by a trend.

Maybe the situation will improve by 1953, but of this you can be sure . . . TV and radio will still be around.

First Aid Courses Planned for CD

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—Plans were made for the organization of a self help instructor course in connection with the Civilian Defense program at the meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Thursday afternoon.

The course, which Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, explained was a "refresher course" for "first aid" will probably be given by Miss Cassidy in March. The course will consist of eight hours of instruction, to be divided into four evening lessons once a week. Members of the committee were requested to recruit future instructors from the American Red Cross first aid class which was given last spring under the direction of Dr. Hans J. Cohn.

Mrs. George Laws, the new president of the committee, who presided, appointed Mrs. Joseph Marr chairman of the house committee, and suggested various improvements to be made at the health center.

Mrs. Edward J. Devlin, chairman of the dental clinic, reported that 18 children had been treated last month.

Replacing Mrs. Joseph Hilton, Mrs. Clarence J. Snyder was appointed chairman of the loan closet. She stated that inventory and reorganization of the closet was in progress.

The Christmas party given during the last children's clinic at the health center was enjoyed by both children attending the clinic and a number of visitors, according to Mrs. Luis Bared, clinic chairman.

Other reports were submitted by Mrs. Melvin Leshen, acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. Warren Huffy; Mrs. Clayton Harder, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles King, transportation. Mrs. Joseph Marr, representative for the Woodstock Blood Bank and Miss Anne Cassidy on Public Health Department work in the community.

It was voted that the committee would contribute $10 to the Woodstock blood bank.

Plans were discussed for a possible new project to be undertaken by the committee, which will be further discussed at the February meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Marr, president of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee, gave an account of the last county meeting in January.

Following the meeting which was attended by 16 members of the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clough, refreshments were served.

Will Discuss Plans On Girl Scouting

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—A special meeting of all Girl Scout leaders, troop committee members and mothers of Girl Scouts and Brownies, will be held Thursday, Feb. 7, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the Woodstock troop committee, stated along with the announcement of the meeting, that it is imperative that adults interested in the continuance of girl scouting in Woodstock, attend to aid in the making of plans for the

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

First Aid Courses Planned for CD

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—Plans were made for the organization of a self help instructor course in connection with the Civilian Defense program at the meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Thursday afternoon.

The course, which Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, explained, will be a "refresher" course in first aid, will probably be given by Miss Cassidy in March. The course will consist of eight hours of instruction, to be divided into four evening lessons once a week. Members of the committee were requested to recruit future instructors from the American Red Cross First Aid class which was given last spring under the direction of Dr. Hans J. Cohn.

Mrs. George Laws, the new president of the committee, who presided, appointed Mrs. Joseph Marr chairman of the house committee, and suggested various improvements to be made at the health center.

Mrs. Edward J. Devlin, chairman of the dental clinic, reported that 18 children had been treated last month.

Replacing Mrs. Joseph Hilton, Mrs. Clarence J. Snyder was appointed chairman of the loan closet. She stated that inventory and reorganization of the closet was in progress.

The Christmas party given during the last children's clinic at the health center was enjoyed by both children attending the clinic and a number of visitors, according to Mrs. Luis Bared, clinic chairman.

Other reports were submitted by Mrs. Melvin Leshen, acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. Warren Huffy; Mrs. Clayton Harder, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles King, transportation; Mrs. Joseph Marr, representative for the Woodstock Blood Bank; and Miss Anne Cassidy on Public Health Department work in the community.

It was voted that the committee would contribute $10 to the Woodstock blood bank.

Plans were discussed for a possible new project to be undertaken by the committee, which will be further discussed at the February meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Marr, president of the Ulster County Public Health Nursing Committee, gave an account of the last county meeting in January.

Following the meeting which was attended by 16 members at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clough, refreshments were served.

Will Discuss Plans On Girl Scouting

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—A special meeting of all Girl Scout leaders, troop committee members and mothers of Girl Scouts and Brownies, will be held Thursday, Feb. 7, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the Woodstock troop committee, stated along with the announcement of the meeting, that it is imperative that adult interest in the continuance of girl scouting in Woodstock, attend to aid in the making of plans for the future.

At this time there will be a discussion on the reorganization of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council.

"Further adult participation in the program is absolutely necessary if the girls in our community are to continue to have the privilege of Girl Scout and Brownie experience which provides a healthy balance of group recreation and education," Mrs. Rapp said.

In particular, Mrs. Rapp would like to extend an invitation to mothers, of girls who will be eligible to become Brownies, those who will have reached the age of seven years by next September, to meet with the scout leaders and to learn about future plans. If there are smaller children in the family, the mothers are welcome to bring them along rather than miss the meeting.

"Scouting is a group experience," Mrs. Rapp emphasized, "with stress placed upon the high ideals for which scouting stands. In a small community such as ours, this group experience may not be obtainable elsewhere."

Scouting, she explained, offers a variety of activity. Girls are instilled with a healthy spirit of competition in working for awards; they are given an opportunity to express themselves in dramatic and frequent presentations of plays, and are encouraged to participate in outdoor activities, dancing groups and social affairs. In the younger Brownie group, with the same ideals held before them, they learn at an early age how to play an active part in their own age group.

Peppers Win Two

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—Pepper's Garage won two games out of three last Wednesday night in the Saugerties B League with Maines Oilers. Pepper's scored 845-740-870 and Maines Oilers 761-802-784. Individual scores for Pepper's were: J. Holdridge, Jr., 146-183; A. Pepper 160-103; C. Harder 153-158-162; C. Nicponski 186-158-215; V. Busch 187-157-185; J. Peper 108-109, with handicaps of 11-56-16. This was the first game in which John Peper bowled with the team. Individual scores for Maines Oilers were: W. Kimble 159-154-162; H. Maines 160-151-143; C. Teetsel 124-150-162; J. Maines 157-206-136; A. Myers 171-141-181. C. Nicponski was both high single and high triple scorer with 215 and 559.

Help Blood Bank

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—It has been announced by the Woodstock blood bank that contributions which will aid in its maintenance have been received from the following: Woodstock Home Bureau, Helen K. Chase, Mrs. Frederick Milne, American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, a Booster and the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Feb. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Greenberg and family left Thursday for New York for ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Leshen and family and Mrs. Anna Kamen left today to spend the weekend in Brooklyn at the home of Mrs. Anna Leshen. While there they will celebrate Miss Deborah Leshen's birthday.

As Pegler Sees It

eration of Workers, even with its efficient program of riots and individual intimidations never has been able to hoist the dues above a thousand francs a year, which is about $2.50 in American money. Lesser unions have to be content with twenty-five cents or a dollar.

The Frenchman revealed strange aloofness when he was told that in the United States these organizations had gathered in so much that Dave Dubinsky of the Garment Workers had been able to scatter a million dollars on his own politico-charity projects.

The French workman asked why American workers needed Dubinsky to pick their charities and decide how much they would have to give. They are very difficult people to reason with. So Lovett may congratulate himself that even though we are paying 25 per cent surcharge to the French government in taxes we are saving at least 25 per cent in costs which the unions would have added to the bill but for the travailleur's unwillingness to let Dubinsky's ambassadors do him good.

For an interesting contrast there is a situation at Las Vegas, Nevada which Mr. Lovett might with more direct authority look into. At Vegas, James Hartley, business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers, is demanding $45.50 weekly subsistence for work on an urgent atom bomb construction project in addition to wages of $400 to $680 a week. It's little items like this that run up the cost of a wage in an election year. (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Trust Luck At Bridge Table

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The bidding and play of this hand took about five minutes," reports a Scarsdale correspondent, "but the discussion with my partner has lasted five days."

"West opened the six of hearts, and dummy won with the king. I had twelve tricks in top cards, and had to decide whether to set up a club or ruff a heart in dummy."

"If clubs were 5-2, they could not be set up. If the hearts were 5-2, it was still possible that the player with only two hearts could not over-ruff dummy's ten of spades."

"On this reasoning, I cashed the ace of hearts and led the eight of trumps to my ace. This was still another chance; the jack of spades might fall on this trick."

"Then I led a heart from my own hand and West naturally stepped up with the jack of spades to set the contract."

"Was my line of play correct but unlucky, or incorrect and unlucky?"

Incorrect, I am sorry to say. The best play is to run four rounds of trumps at once, discarding low diamonds from the dummy. This beginning gives the opponents some light chance to make a mistake.

South then cashes the top clubs and ruffs a club, hoping for a 4-3 break. If the clubs are 4-3, he can set up a long club in dummy.

If the clubs fail to break, South leads a heart to dummy's ace, hoping that the queen will drop. If this break fails to materialize, South ruffs another low club and then leads his last trump in the hope of developing a squeeze.

As the cards lie, with all suits breaking badly, South still makes his grand slam. When the last trump is led, West has the high club and two diamonds. He must keep the club, so he discards a diamond.

Dummy can then discard the six of clubs, keeping ace-jack of diamonds. This puts it up to East, who has the queen of hearts and two diamonds. If he discards the queen of hearts, South's jack wins a trick. If he discards a diamond, dummy's ace clears the suit, and the jack of diamonds wins the last trick.

20,000 Truckers

they signed individual agreements with the union.

Contracts covering the majority of truckers in the south and midwest expired at midnight last night.

In Chicago, James J. Spillane, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said five operators' associations representing 500 firms signed a three-year contract granting drivers an immediate hourly wage increase of 19 cents and providing for raises of 7½ cents in 1953 and 1954.

The agreement also granted an increase in the mileage pay rate of three-fourths of a cent a mile, with further mileage boosts of one fourth cent to come next year and in 1954.

The average pay for drivers in the midwest has been $1.60 an hour, with the varying mileage allowances, depending upon equipment, loads and distances.

Midwest Provision

The midwest contract included a provision for an additional 15 cents an hour and a one-half-cent mileage boost for drivers handling explosives.

Joseph E. Flynn, assistant to Dan Tobin, president of the teamsters union, said he was confident that midwest holdouts firms would sign soon, and that agreements would be reached with employers in the Southeast and Southwest Drivers' Council territories, based upon the midwest agreement.

Negotiations between operators and the Southeast and Southwest Councils in Memphis, Tenn., broke down several days ago.

In separate negotiations yesterday, a threatened strike of 4,000 teamsters' union dockhands was averted at Chicago loading terminals by agreement on a wage increase to boost pay from $1.50 to $1.73 an hour and cut the work week from 48 to 40 hours. It was agreed that if the War Stabilization Board approves the pay rate will be upped to $1.86—a 31-cent increase.

Eden Is in Paris

Paris, Feb. 1 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arrived here by air today for talks with French leaders. Eden said he had come, "as previously agreed," to discuss with French officials the outcome of the talks he and Prime Minister Churchill had in Washington with President Truman and American officials.

Eden said he also would see French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and "we will no doubt review the international situation in the spirit of our mutual friendship."

Second Son Is Born

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, 27, and conductor Leopold Stokowski, 69, have a second son. The New York Hospital disclosed today that the pretty, young heiress gave birth to a 9-pound, 3-ounce boy yesterday morning. She had entered the hospital the night before. "Both mother and son are doing well," a hospital spokesman said. The Stokowskis have another son, born in August, 1950.

Taft sent a telegram to Frank Kenna, Queens county Republican leader, thanking Kenna for promised support of eight delegates.

"I am grateful to you for your support and regard it as significant of the truly grass roots Republican sentiment in New York city which has been steadily claimed by my opponents," Taft said.

He expressed confidence that "many other New York delegates will join" the Taft movement.

93,000 Die in Accidents

Chicago, Feb. 1 (AP)—The nation's staggering accident toll in 1951 was 93,000 persons killed and more than 9 million injured, says the National Safety Council. The council estimated the accidents cost the nation eight billion dollars in wages, medical expense, insurance costs, production delays, damage to equipment and property damage. Accidental deaths, with automobile mishaps the No. 1 killer with a toll of 37,500, was $4,000 above 1950. The traffic deaths were the highest in 10 years and compared with 35,00 in 1950.

Head Red Cross Blood Program

Plans for collecting blood are discussed by these members of the committee for that purpose serving with the Ulster County Red Cross. Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, blood program chairman; Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chapter chairman and Mrs. William H. Merrill, volunteer services chairman. The committee will give particular attention to donor recruitment and devise an effective plan to maintain a steady supply of donors during visits of the mobile unit from the Schenectady Red Cross Regional Blood Center. The first visit of the unit will be in Kingston on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the municipal auditorium. Visits of the unit throughout the county will also be scheduled for the collection of blood for the armed forces in Korea. (Freeman Photo) who served in the Truman cabinet as secretary of agriculture and thinks the President will run again, agreed Truman can ignore all primaries and still be re-nominated.

"I've been saying that right along," he said.

Senator Kerr (D., Okla.), who has hinted he might run if Truman does not, put it this way: "It's a generally recognized fact that the President will be re-nominated if he let's it be known that he is available."

Unlike Johnson and Anderson, Kerr said he has no opinion on what Truman will do.

The President's comments came after he said his name would be withdrawn from the New Hampshire state primary, first state presidential preference contest on March 11.

Kefauver Lone Candidate

That left Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as the lone Democratic presidential entrant in New Hampshire. Kefauver said he was in to stay even though unopposed.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) fired a shot last night at the reported New York stronghold supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee in 1948, has been claiming solid support of the large New York delegation for Eisenhower.

Taft sent a telegram to Frank Kenna, Queens county Republican leader, thanking Kenna for promised support of eight delegates.

"I am grateful to you for your support and regard it as significant of the truly grass roots Republican sentiment in New York city which has been steadily claimed by my opponents," Taft said.

He expressed confidence that "many other New York delegates will join" the Taft movement.

Resolution Approved

Paris, Feb. 1 (AP)—The UN General Assembly approved today an American-backed resolution labeling Russia a treaty breaker for failing to live up to its 1945 friendship pact with Nationalist China. With almost half the members not voting, the ballot was 25 to nine, with 24 abstentions and two members not present. The Assembly's action in approving the relatively mild rebuke represented a triumph for Nationalist China's delegate Dr. T. T. Tsiang, who has been trying for three years to get some sort of UN condemnation of Russia's part in the downfall of Chiang Kai-shek.

Elizabeth, Philip Greeted in Africa; Boy Steals Show

Nairobi, Kenya, Feb. 1 (AP)—A three-year-old African boy bashfully turned his back on Princess Elizabeth today and grabbed the spotlight at this British East African colony's welcome to its future ruler.

The child—named Prince because he was born the same day as Elizabeth's son Prince Charles—was delegated to hand her a bouquet when she visited the new African Maternity Hospital soon after her airport arrival.

Wide-eyed and solemn in white shirt and short blue trousers, Prince turned his back on the princess and shyly backhanded the flowers. Elizabeth gently pulled him around and took the bouquet, to the delight of the large crowd of Africans on hand.

With her husband Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, the princess landed here at 10:12 a. m. (2:12 EST) today, three minutes ahead of schedule after the 4,013-mile flight from London. It was the first stop on their five-month tour to the eastern half of the British commonwealth.

Official Greeting Given

As the couple stepped from their British Overseas Airways Argonaut airliner, they were greeted by Kenya's governor, Maj. Gen. Sir Philip Mitchell, and Lady Mitchell. An anti-aircraft battery fired the royal salute.

A large party of African chiefs with their families were at the airport to greet Elizabeth. Most left their colorful native dress at home, however, and wore sober lounge suits, stiff collars and shiny shoes.

Also on hand at the airport were chiefs of the British Army, Navy and Air Force in Kenya, the mayor of Nairobi and their wives. The princess and the duke will remain here a week. Part of the time they will vacation at a hunting lodge the colony gave them as a wedding present.

Next Thursday they will sail from Mombasa, Kenya's chief seaport, aboard the liner Gothic to continue their tour to Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

Back in London, a spokesman at the couple's London residence, Clarence House, announced they would return home by way of the Panama Canal and Bermuda.

Head Red Cross Blood Program

Plans for collecting blood are discussed by these members of the committee for that purpose serving with the Ulster County Red Cross. Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, blood program chairman; Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chapter chairman and Mrs. William H. Merrill, volunteer services chairman. The committee will give particular attention to donor recruitment and devise an effective plan to maintain a steady supply of donors during visits of the mobile unit from the Schenectady Red Cross Regional Blood Center. The first visit of the unit will be in Kingston on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the municipal auditorium. Visits of the unit throughout the county will also be scheduled for the collection of blood for the armed forces in Korea. (Freeman Photo)

who served in the Truman cabinet as secretary of agriculture and thinks the President will run again, agreed Truman can ignore all primaries and still be re-nominated. "I've been saying that right along," he said. Senator Kerr (D., Okla.), who has hinted he might run if Truman does not, put it this way: "It's a generally recognized fact that the President will be re-nominated if he let it be known that he is available."

Unlike Johnson and Anderson, Kerr said he has no opinion on what Truman will do. The President's comments came after he said his name would be withdrawn from the New Hampshire state primary, first state presidential preference contest on March 11.

Kefauver Lone Candidate
That left Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as the lone Democratic presidential entrant in New Hampshire. Kefauver said he was in to stay even though unopposed. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) fired a shot last night at the reported New York stronghold supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee in 1948, has been claiming solid support of the large New York delegation for Eisenhower.

Taft sent a telegram to Frank Kenna, Queens county Republican leader, thanking Kenna for promised support of eight delegates. "I am grateful to you for your support and regard it as significant of the truly grass roots Republican sentiment in New York city which has been steadily claimed by my opponents," Taft said.

Resolution Approved
Paris, Feb. 1 (AP)—The UN General Assembly approved today an American-backed resolution labeling Russia a treaty breaker for failing to live up to its 1945 friendship pact with Nationalist China. With almost half the members not voting, the ballot was 25 to nine, with 24 abstentions and two members not present. The Assembly's action in approving the relatively mild rebuke represented a triumph for Nationalist China's delegate Dr. T. T. Tsiang, who has been trying for three years to get some sort of UN condemnation of Russia's part in the downfall of Chiang Kai-shek.

Elizabeth, Philip Greeted in Africa; Boy Steals Show

Nairobi, Kenya, Feb. 1 (AP) — A three-year-old African boy bashfully turned his back on Princess Elizabeth today and grabbed the spotlight at this British East African colony's welcome to its future ruler.

The child—named Prince because he was born the same day as Elizabeth's son Prince Charles—was delegated to hand her a bouquet when she visited the new African Maternity Hospital soon after her airport arrival.

Wide-eyed and solemn in white shirt and short blue trousers, Prince turned his back on the princess and shyly backhanded the flowers. Elizabeth gently pulled him around and took the bouquet, to the delight of the large crowd of Africans on hand.

With her husband Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, the princess landed here at 10:12 a. m. (2:12 EST) today, three minutes ahead of schedule after the 4,013-mile flight from London. It was the first stop on their five-month tour to the eastern half of the British commonwealth.

Official Greeting Given
As the couple stepped from their British Overseas Airways Argonaut airliner, they were greeted by Kenya's governor, Maj. Gen. Sir Philip Mitchell, and Lady Mitchell. An anti-aircraft battery fired the royal salute.

A large party of African chiefs with their families were at the airport to greet Elizabeth. Most left their colorful native dress at home, however, and wore sober lounge suits, stiff collars and shiny shoes.

Also on hand at the airport were chiefs of the British Army, Navy and Air Force in Kenya, the mayor of Nairobi and his wives. The princess and the duke will remain here a week. Part of the time they will vacation at a hunting lodge the colony gave them as a wedding present.

Next Thursday they will sail from Mombasa, Kenya's chief seaport, aboard the liner Gothic to continue their tour to Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

Back in London, a spokesman at the couple's London residence, Clarence House, announced they would return home by way of the Panama Canal and Bermuda.

Grand Jury Will

liner, 179 N. Wabash. The Rialto, 140 W. Van Buren street, remained closed.

At Springfield, state agriculture director Roy Yung announced another state food inspector had been fired. Yung said he fired Paul M. Mearsh of Beardstown for failing to report illegal activities to horsemeat racketeers.

Mearsh was the ninth state inspector to lose his job since the scandal broke.

Inspector Suspended
Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, said a Chicago city food inspector has been suspended on charges of taking bribes. Bundesen identified him as Albert Schenker.

Prosecutor Boyle said Charles W. Wray, who was dismissed as superintendent of the State Division of Foods and Dairies after he admitted taking $3,500 in bribes, will be subpoenaed to go before the grand jury.

Boyle said he is investigating reports that Wray received a great deal more money than that. The prosecutor said he is looking into reports that $3,500 a week may have been paid in bribes to various persons since illegal sale of horsemeat in the guise of beef began in 1950.

He said about 50 persons, including several state food inspectors, also will be called to testify.

Prices of Beer

but it has now become impossible to absorb any more and we will have to hand it on the consumer," said one member of the Ulster County Hotel Liquor Dealers Association, Inc.

About Bottled Beer
In suggesting a minimum price of beer by the glass a minimum price for bottled beer was also suggested. The regular eastern beer in 12 ounce bottles will cost 30 cents with the Premium beers selling for 35 cents. The 7-ounce bottle will go at a minimum price of 20 cents. Eastern beer has been selling variously from 25 to 40 cents in different establishments.

The meeting Wednesday at The Barn was attended by about 100 local licensees, including many who are not members of the Association.

Urge Descendants Of Early Settlers To Plant Flowers

The Home Grounds Beautification Committee presents the following in the hope that descendants of early settlers will plant flowers in their front yards in commemorating the country of their origin.

"Here, to our beautiful Hudson valley, came the Dutch, the English and the French Huguenots. Three Colonial civilizations came, took root, grew and thrived."

"History has, in part, told the story—but in part only. The folk lore of these people has in the main been left unsaid. The loves, the joys, the sorrows, the daily customs, the peculiarities of manners that grew with the adaptation of the three different races to a new environment and to each other."

"Washington Irving, with glorious artistry has given us a piece of the picture. Today, in the same beautiful valley, live the descendants of these sturdy self-sufficient pioneers. The true picture of the lives of their ancestors are the family stories told to the children in front of the open fire. Here, in the seemingly casual tales of what great-grand Uncle Ben and great-great-grandmother Mary did on such and such an occasion, is the true human story of a great Colonial epic."

North Central Region Gets Warmer Weather

(By The Associated Press)
It was warmer in most of the north central region than in parts of the normally sunny southland early today.

It was 28 above in Augusta, Ga.; 29 in Charleston, S. C.; 30 in Norfolk, Va., and 31 in Savannah, Ga. The low in Jacksonville, Fla., was 39 as compared to 44 in Chicago and 37 in Minneapolis. The chilly air also extended over the Carolinas. Miami escaped the chilly air and reported 63 above.

The New England region was the coldest part of the country with near zero temperatures in northern Maine. Some warming was reported in the northeastern states since yesterday morning and warmer weather was in prospect for the frost-bitten southeastern area.

Korean War Equals World War I Time

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—Tomorrow Americans will have been at war in Korea as long as they were in World War I.

So historians at Far East Naval Headquarters prepared to move the Korean conflict into second place in the list of wars fought by the U. S. in this century.

A spokesman said World War I covered 584 days between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918. Tomorrow will be the 584th day since the U. S., on June 28, 1950, officially entered the Korean conflict, which had begun three days earlier.

Kiwanis, Doctors Discuss Disease

N. Jansen Fowler, chairman of the Heart Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, was moderator during a program Thursday noon during which members of the Kiwanis Club were able to question two local doctors about heart disease.

The doctors were Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden, Jr., and Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum. The discussion was a part of the regular Kiwanis Club meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Fowler announced that February is Heart Month, during which the annual fund campaign will be conducted to provide for more basic research nationally, and for education and consultation service on the local level.

Robeson, Attorney Refused Entry to Canadian Section

Seattle, Feb. 1 (AP)—Singer Paul Robeson and one of labor leader Harry Bridges' lawyers won't be able to keep a speaking engagement in Vancouver, B.C., today—they can't get across the border.

Robeson and Vincent William Hallinan, traveling separately, were told yesterday by U.S. immigration officials they could not cross the border into Canada. Both were en route to a meeting of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Ind.), and were scheduled to address that group today.

District Immigration Director John P. Boyd said legal authority for turning the pair back is found in a 1918 wartime act and a 1941 presidential proclamation prohibiting either citizens or aliens from leaving the country when such a ban is in the government's interest.

(Passports normally are not required for entry into Canada and there usually is but a moment's delay at the border station at Blaine, 100 miles north of here.)

Both men turned back, Robeson by automobile and Hallinan by train, when advised violation of

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Eight city school teachers have been suspended without pay for refusing to answer queries about Communist party membership. The suspensions were announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools William Jansen, who filed charges against the group for alleged insubordination and conduct unbecoming a teacher. Later, two of the teachers said they were not members of the Communist party. The other six refused to discuss their political affiliations.

The loves, the joys, the sorrows, the daily customs, the peculiarities of manners that grew with the adaptation of the three different races to a new environment and to each other.

"Washington Irving, with glorious artistry has given us a piece of the picture. Today, in the same beautiful valley, live the descendants of these sturdy self-sufficient pioneers. The true picture of the lives of their ancestors are the family stories told to the children in front of the open fire. Here, in the seemingly casual tales of what great-great Uncle Ben and great-great grandmother Mary did on such and such an occasion, is the true human story of a great Colonial epic."

North Central Region Gets Warmer Weather

(By The Associated Press)
It was warmer in most of the north central region than in parts of the normally sunny southland early today.

It was 28 above in Augusta, Ga.; 29 in Charleston, S. C.; 30 in Norfolk, Va., and 31 in Savannah, Ga. The low in Jacksonville, Fla., was 39 as compared to 44 in Chicago and 37 in Minneapolis. The chilly air also extended over the Carolinas. Miami escaped the chilly air and reported 63 above.

The New England region was the coldest part of the country with near zero temperatures in northern Maine. Some warming was reported in the northeastern states since yesterday morning and warmer weather was in prospect for the frost-bitten southeastern area.

Korean War Equals World War I Time

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—Tomorrow Americans will have been at war in Korea as long as they were in World War I.

So historians at Far East Naval Headquarters prepared to move the Korean conflict into second place in the list of wars fought by the U. S. in this century.

The spokesman said World War I covered 584 days between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918. Tomorrow will be the 584th day since the U. S., on June 28, 1950, officially entered the Korean conflict, which had begun three days earlier.

Kiwanis, Doctors Discuss Disease

N. Hansen Committee, chairman of the Heart Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, was moderator during a program Thursday noon during which members of the Kiwanis Club were able to question two local doctors about heart disease.

The doctors were Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden, Jr., and Dr. Samuel F. Nussbaum. The discussion was a part of the regular Kiwanis Club meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Fowler announced that February is Heart Month, during which the annual fund campaign will be conducted to provide for more basic research nationally, and for education and consultation service on the local level.

There are many minor dialects in the Philippine language, but the principal native languages are Tagalog, Visayan and Iloko.

Robeson, Attorney Refused Entry to Canadian Section

Seattle, Feb. 1 (AP)—Singer Paul Robeson and one of labor leader Harry Bridges' lawyers won't be able to keep a speaking engagement in Vancouver, B.C., today—they can't get across the border.

Robeson and Vincent William Hallinan, traveling separately, were told yesterday by U.S. immigration officials they could not cross the border into Canada. Both were en route to a meeting of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Ind), and were scheduled to address that group today.

District Immigration Director John P. Boyd said legal authority for turning the pair back is found in a 1918 wartime act and a 1941 presidential proclamation prohibiting either citizens or aliens from leaving the country when such a ban is in the government's interest.

(Passports normally are not required for entry into Canada and there usually is but a moment's delay at the border station at Blaine, 100 miles north of here.)

Both men turned back, Robeson by automobile and Hallinan by train, when advised violation of

Eight Are Suspended

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Eight city school teachers have been suspended without pay for refusing to answer queries about Communist party membership. The suspensions were announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools William Jansen, who filed charges against the group for alleged insubordination and conduct unbecoming a teacher. Later, two of the teachers said they were not members of the Communist party. The other six refused to discuss their political affiliations.
